PERSIAN MOB KILLS AMERICAN VICE CONSUL

RAILROAD COMMISSION APPROVES PROPOSED RAILROAD

By MRS. W. B. LANDRUM

I can imagine nothing better than being asked to write about my trip this summer. Whether Mr. Adair was prompted by the thought that what I might write would be interesting, or whether my long-suffering but patient friends prevailed upon him to let me use this medium of telling all about it will ever remain a mystery.

There were four in our party: my mother, brother, Mr. Landrum and I We went on the Arkansas Special to New York, making but one stop (except to change crews or engines,) which was at Niagara Falls. We saw this wonder at sunrise, and the myriads of rainbows over the Falls and in the heavy mist made it an ever-remember sight. The Arkansas delegates and visitors were met at the Grand Central terminal by an official welcoming committee and a special corps of motorcycle "cops;" whether there is any significance to be attached to this I do not know. I did not see who met the Texas train. This was our first thrill—to be taken through the traffic of New York escorted by a special detachment of the police to the hotel in which we had made reservation.

Mr. Landrum Disappointed.

Our first night and day in New York was rather disappointing. I felt that New York had been greatly exaggerated, and Mr. Landrum was ready to come home because he could not see the Woolworth building the minute he stepped off the train. But in the language of the Queen of Sheba, "the half has never yet been told." By frequently consulting Rand McNally's guide book of New York, the official guide book souvenirs of Mayor Hylan, and Rider's New York City—which in 670 pages describes the

THE POLLS WILL TELL!

Following an editorial in Wednesday's Mexia Daily News, under the head of "Limestone County Injured," in which an attack was made upon the Commissioners Court for its action in fighting the State High way Department and the new automobile tax law, it has been called to the attention of The News that Commissoner John Kennedy of this precinct opposed the suit and still does so. This explanation is gladly made. The News had no desire to deal in personalities and mentioned the body, including the Commissioners Court Judge, as a body, referring to this act just as reference is commonly made to the acts of a certain legislature, for example, without mentioning the exceptions. It is probably true also that J. R Dulaney, Commissioner of the Coolidge precinct also was against the injunction suit being brought by Limestone County against the State.

The News knows and the community knows that Mr. Kennedy worked in harmony with the State Highway Department and thereby made it possible to secure the State and Federal aid which built, with little county aid, the magnificent paved strip of highway, between Mexia and Groesbeck, extending four miles along the X-All highway in the shadow of the Golden Lane.

Limestone county is suffering because of the injustice of this suit. This is the only county in the state fighting the new law. So, in case Limestone County Commissioners Court wins the suit in November, it will lose again in the Winter. Limestone county will be politely informed by the other 266 counties of the state that they are not going to sit idly by and permit the Limestone County Court to run the entire State of Texas' highway department. The case will come up in November and in case it is found that the law is unconstitutional, the legislature will be in session in January and will write a law that will be constitutional, containing the same general elements as the present law which is now being attacked. In the meantime, the highways of the county are suffering because of the tie-up of the funds, while the citizens of the county everywhere they go are having to explain that the citizens were not consulted about the suit and that they are good road enthusiasts just like all other progressive people of the state Also, suppose the county commissioners court wins the suit, will the money raised through automobile tax license be returned to the hard pressed farmers and burdened tax payers? No, indeed! The taxpayers will not be saved a penny, even though the Limestone county commissioners court should win its suit against the State of Texas High way Department.

In case the Commissioners Court loses its case, the damage will have already been done and the years unborn will witness Limestone county citizens continually paying for the mistakes of a very few men in public office in this county who are submitting their names for reconsideration at the polls on the 26th of July.

The contested amount in Limestone county today is understood to be less than $25,000, while the entire amount "tied up" by the suit is less than $10,000 at this time.

Within the past four years, Limestone County has received nearly one half million dollars state and federal aid for highways and roads, which has been distributed in all directions and for the service of citizens of the entire county. The government has therefore given the county as much in four years as the contested amount would involve in 40 years.

The majority of the Commissioners and County Judge may and should control the Court in Limestone County. Commissioner John Kennedy was only one of a body of five and could not keep the court from filing the injunction suit.

But next Saturday is the people's day. They, then, will be permitted to express their ideas on this subject, along with other subjects involving the entire business administration of Limestone county.

The chances are bright for a shake up in the Commissioners Court for the people are not in sympathy with a body that spends more than a half million dollars for a court house, without consulting them in the old fashioned democratic way at the polls and that also takes a step to retard road improvement and to the injury of highways and roads that cost many hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Miners Threaten Violence To Man Who Killed Girl

BELAIR, Ohio, July 19.—Kondrat Wosdenkow, 38, was spirited away to the St. Clairsville jail when a mob of 300 miners surrounded the local jail threatening to lynch him for the murder of Anna Koskon, 7, whose abused body was found on a road near here.

Consternation Is Felt In Tehran

LONDON, July 19.—The American and European colonies are in a state of consternation at Tsheran, the Persian capital following the death of Major Imbrie, United States vice consul as a result of wounds sustained at the hands of a mob which beat him to death. Another American is seriously wounded in a hospital, according to the Evening News, which lacks full particulars of the affair.

NOTHING DOING

PORT ARTHUR, Texas, July 19.—It was a busy day at the city hall. Acting Mayor Wiley looked at his watch and found it had stopped. He strolled down to the city commission room and looked at the clock. It had stopped several hours earlier. On top of that, there was nothing for the commissioners to do. So the acting mayor wound his watch and went back to his office. Ho hum.

THE WEATHER

East Texas—Sunday partly cloudy, probably thundershowers in northwest.

West Texas—Sunday partly cloudy probable showers in southeast.

Henderson Scene Of Raiding Band; Women Frightened

CORSICANA, July 19.—Several members of the sheriff's office from Corsicana went to Henderson county late Friday to investigate reports of a raid by a band of white men upon a pleasure camp at Mud Spring on the Trinity.

The camping party composed of several families from the Chatfield community reported that a band of men mounted on horses crossed the river and bore down on their camp firing revolvers and rifles. The raiders forced the women of the party to cook a meal for them. Nearby residents who heard the shots came to the rescue while the gang was eating and drove the marauders back across the river.

Latimer County Fears Threats of Disturbance

WILBURTON, Okla, July 19.—Latimer county officials were posting guards at the Hailey-Ola Coal Company mine and the Eastern Coal and Mining Company near here today as precaution against a threat by union workers to force nonunion workmen to leave the pits.

Both mines have been operating upon a nonunion wage scale for more than a month after several months of idleness due to a wage controversy between operators and miners in this section of the State.

Action was taken by Sheriff Austin Parks of Latimer county following the closing of the Kala-Inla mine near Hartshorne yesterday when 200 armed union workers compelled twenty nonunion mine workers to leave the pits. There was no disorder and no arrests.

The raiding forces, chiefly from an adjacent mine settlement, went to the pit in a body and asked the mine superintendent to discharge the nonunion workmen. Upon his refusal the raiders disarmed the mine guards and sent word to the workers to stop work. The workers, about twenty in number, who were cleaning out the mine preparatory to reopening, complied without resistance.

Leaders of the raiding forces explained their attack was not directed against the nonunion workmen, but as a protest against the 1917 wage scale which is considerably below the terms agreed upon at the Kansas City meeting several months ago. Differences in the union rate and the prevailing open shop rate amount to about 25c a ton, it was stated.

The Oklahoma coal fields have been virtually at a standstill since the first of the year pending settlement of the wage dispute and many miners are in desperate financial straits.

Several of the mines inthis section have been cleaned out preparatory to resumption of coal digging, in anticipation of the wage dispute settlement which is still pending.

Non union mine operators were silent today relative to possible opening of their mines this season in view of the Kala-Inla incident.

INTEREST PLAYING OUT

GAINESVILLE, Texas, July 19.—Because of poor attendance, the remaining games on the local club's schedule may be abandoned, owners of the team have indicated. Gate receipts have not been sufficient to pay expenses, let alone making any profit.

COLONEL R.C.DUFF STATES THAT HE'S READY TO START

The Texas Railroad Commission has requested the Interstate Commerce Commission to approve the proposed Beaumont to Waco railroad through this section of Texas. This is according to an announcement made by Col. R. C. Duff, promoter of the new line.

Colonel Duff has stated that he is ready to begin construction of the road as soon as authority is granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Action of the Texas body, it is thought, will make approval of the I. C. C. very probable.

Should this be the case, the chances are that before the year is up the actual construction of the road will be under way.

The plans for the new road contemplate using the road now in use between Weldon and Livingston and the construction of new road totaling about 200 miles.

U. S. BATTLESHIP REQUESTED FOR PROTECTION IN BRAZIL

BUENOS AIRES, July 19.—Intervention of foreign powers in Brazil to protect the rights of their nationalists was discussed by the Argentine press today.

Italy and other European nations are expected to make an immediate gesture of protest against the inability of the Government at Rio de Janeiro to give assurance that the rights of foreigners will be maintained.

The request that a United States warship be sent to Santos to protect American property and maintain American rights, led to anticipation of similar action by other nations.

PRISONER IS POLITICIAN

HOUSTON, Texas, July 19.—One of the most interested persons in local politics is Jack Warran, held in jail in connection with the fire which destroyed a house here burning two persons to death. Although Warran wont have a vote, he is di playing a keen interest in the Harris county political situation. Warran declares officials are too busy with politics to pay any attention to him.

MEXIA C .OF C. ARRANGES FOR JAMIE HERON TO SPEAK HERE

Through the courtesy of the Waco Drug Company, and the efforts of Rotarian Val Horn, A. Hardy Eubanks and Jere Cason, President and Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Jamie Heron noted author and humorist will speak here Friday night at 8 o'clock. Mr. Heron spoke here before the Rotary club and at night at the high school auditorium last winter and none could sing his praises too loudly. The meeting will be held in the street, probably in front of the Hurdleston Hotel, there will be no admission charged and it is hoped that the public at large will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing this noted speaker.

Jamie Heron is a champion of economic and local justice, an ambassador for the practical application of the Golden Rule in business. He is a humorist, but he embodies so much more than merely humor in his lectures that the story would be but half told if nothing were added.

He is called the "Business Man's Poet" and many bits of his own viril verse are woven into his address.

For the past five years he has been studying the problems of the business man and how communities grow and has found that better business is built by building better men. and communities grow by united effort under the leadership of the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary club, Lions club and like organizations.

Senator Wheeler To Run In Race With La Follette

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat of Montana, has decided to accept the nomination for vice president on Robert M. La Follette's independent presidential ticket, according to information here direct from Wheeler.

Wheeler planned to make a statement about noon today announcing his acceptances and explaining his reasons for the decision to run with La Follette.

Later—In a formal acceptance of the vice presidential nomination Wheeler declared that although he was a democrat, he was not "a Wall street democrat," and would not support candidates with a "dollar sign on them."

Elliott In Second Place In Tournament Held At Palestine

Hardy Eubanks, President of the Mexia Rotary club and J. W. Elliott, Secretary, returned Friday from Palestine where they had a great day with the Rotarians of several cities in that part of the State. They went by auto through Fairfield, reaching Palestine about 9 o'clock Thursday morning. In a short while the Jackson brothers and their families of Corsicana arrived and Messrs. Eubanks and Elliott went with them to the Country club and played some golf. They had luncheon with them, the ladies having carried a splendid picnic feed, following which more golf was the order of the hour. About noon a large delegation of Rotarians arrived from Longview. These and others, as well as Palestine Rotarians gathered at the golf club and at 3:30 the tournament begun. The contest was won by L. D. Kelley of Longview with Mr. Elliott a close second. Mr. Elliott might have beaten him, he admits himself, had he known that he even had chance. He was surprised when the decision was announced. Mr. Eubanks had an off day and lost. The golf course there is reported to be one of the best in the State, with natural hazards, 9 holes and 2843 yards. The club house is magnificent, according to the Mexia men present Thursday.

In the evening, a program was given by Palestine Rotarians, lasting an hour and a half, including addresses, music, solo dances and other features. Following this appreciated event, dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

Mr. Eubanks and Mr. Elliott returned the next morning.

Pitched Battle Breaks Session

ATHENS, July 19.—Ambulances were summoned to the Chamber of Deputies this morning as all night session broke up in a pitched battle in which an ex-minister, an admiral and a deputy were seriously wounded and a score of deputies badly beaten. Denunciation of the government by all opposing froces started the most of the rioting.

UNDISPUTED TITLE

EL PASO, Texas, July 19.—The "meanest man" title goes to the passenger on a street car here who struck a 13 year old Mexican youth over the fingers while the latter was "hooking" a ride on the car, causing him to fall to the pavement. The boy suffered a fractured skull.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Gidden have returned from a brief trip to Palestine. Those making the trip to counties East of here are growing anxious to see the completion of Freeston county's road building program which will give Mexia an outlet across the Trinity river which will bring hundreds of visitors here each week.

Government Now Demands Amends For Violent Act

WASHINGTON, July 19.—The government is prepared to take vigorous action to secure amends for the killing of Robert Imbrie at Tehran by a fanatical mob.

TEHRAN, Persia, July 19.—Maor Robert W. Imbrie, American vice consul, was beaten to death by a native mob here Thursday. The Persians resented an attempt by Major Imbrie to photograph a so-called "magic fountain," of which the natives stand in awe.

An American who was with the consul was severely wounded and is in a hospital.

Robert Whitney Imbrie was born in Washington, D. C., April 23, 1884 and was graduated from George Washington University in 1905. He was engaged in the practice of law 1909-15. He volunteered in the French army in 1915 and served until 1917. Appointed vice consul at Petrograd, Aug. 24, 1917, he later was assigned as vice consul at Viborg, Dec. 22, 1919. He was sent to Constantinople as vice consul Oct. 13, 1920.

Major Imbrie was married less than two years ago to Miss Katherine Gillespie of New Rochelle, N. Y., when she was directing the Near East Relief orphanage in the former Turkish capital.

The murder of Major Imbrie occurred at 5 p. m. Friday and was perpetrated by a mob made fanatical by the recent agitation against foreigners.

Dog Tags Arrive For Citizens Who Want Their Dogs

Dr. W. R. Hodges, city health officer, states that the dog tags required in the new ordinance designed to save citizens from being bitten by canines infected with rabies, have arrived and that those complying with the ordinance as to the vaccination of dogs, may receive them by calling at the city hall.

The application should be accompanied by the properly signed certificate of vacination.

The physicians of Mexia are as good and safe as can be found at Austin or elsewhere when it comes to treating mad dog bites and any needing treatment will do well to see their doctor at once.

Rev. P. D. Tucker Is Friend Of Mexia And Of The News

Rev. P. D. Tucker, Chaplain at Castle Heights School, Lebanon, Tenn., formerly pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church of this city, was a recent visitor here in connection with his summer duties with the institution which has several students enrolled from Mexia. He spoke most highly of the Mexia Daily News saying that he had heard the Mexia newspaper praised highly on numerous occasions outside of Mexia as one of the best daily newspapers in Texas, especially calling attention to its ideals reflected in its editorial columns. He spoke in this manner before the Mexia Lions club upon his trip here a few weeks ago, all of which The News and friends of the News deeply appreciate. Rev. Tucker never loses an opportunity to speak favorably of the city and community where he has so many strong friends.

Here's How It Happened

The Inside Story of the National Democratic Convention.

By A. GARLAND ADAIR
Managing Editor of The Mexia Daily News

RELIGIOUS ISSUE

William Jennings Bryan was seated on the platform all during the fight by the minority plank leaders both during the League of Nations discussion and that on what was commonly spoken of as the Klan plank of the majority report.

After these debates had proceeded for three and a half hours, with the minority speakers receiving ovation after ovation, William Jennings Bryan the most beloved and feared statesman and counsellor in America, came to the front. The climax of the bitter debate came with his appearance, at the outset of his wonderful address. The galleries had been worked up to such a pitch against him by the preceding speakers that it was really surprising that he was able to say a word. Applause had been given friends of the minority report and jeers, curses, profanity, obscene language of the most vulgar type, hisses and boos, threats and abuse were hurled at Mr. Bryan, who like Stonewall Jackson stood his ground, bowed politely, smiled at times and at others hurled back in choice but cutting reportoire the onslaught from the thousands of Bowery folk and others who had crowded their way through willing lines of policemen to places within the galleries. Bryan is at his best when he has his enemies in one group and it is a pretty safe opinion that America has never produced an orator who could have been heard under similar conditions on any subject as long as he was heard. The Chairman, Mr. Walsh was eminently fair. He did his best to quiet the hoodlum masses but could not, without clearing the galleries and any attempt to clear the galleries might have been accompanied by bloodshed, so intolerant was the crowd that was fighting against the majority report.

Senator Walsh said, "Mr. Cummings yields twenty-five minutes to that revered Democrat, the Hon. William Jennings Bryan from Florida."

A voice, "The head ofthe party, Mr. Bryan."

But the insolence of the galleries soon indicated that they were not in sympathy with Mr. Walsh's fine introduction of the grand old commoner, who feeble and with a chronic ailment that will no doubt soon carry him to the Prince of Peace, began speaking, pleading for party harmony.

"Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen, members of this convention. It is now twenty-eight years since Democratic conventions became gracious enough to invite me and patient enough to listen to me, and I have not words in which to express my gratitude for the love and loyalty of millions of Democrats who have been my co-laborers for more than a quarter of a century. ((Applause.)

I have spoken to you on many themes, never on themes more important than today; and since they take applause out of my time, and since I am speaking to your hearts and heads and not to your hands, keep still and let me speak to you. (Cries, "We'll do it.")

"I have only a short time in which to lay before you arguments that seem to me to be pertinent to this occasion, when we are about to decide not only the line of our campaign this Fall, but in which we may affect larger things than parties.

Let's understand each other. Let's eliminate the things that are not in this issue and come down to the three words, that these, our good friends, as honest, as patriotic and as anxious for party welfare of the party, take out of the language and exalt above any other three words that will be used in this campaign. Note, my friends, that they take our report, every word of it, and note that we offered to take every word of their report by three. We said: "Strike out three words and there will be no objection." But three words were more to them than the welfare of a party in a great campaign. (Applause.)

"You have listened to the applause when we have read to you the best Democratic platform that was ever written, the noblest principles that have ever been written into a platform. We have three pleas pathetic for people in distress, but none of our principles, none of our pleas stirred the hearts of these men like the words 'Ku Klux Klan.'"

(Long and contiued hisses, boos and jeers.)

The Chairman raped for order.

The Chairman, "The delegates of the convention will preserve order. I shall have to call Mr. Bryan when the time has expired unless you permit him to proceed."

Mr. Bryan, "I call you to witness, I call you to witness that these men never took the standards of their states and marched when we appealed on grand principles. It was only when they said the Ku Klux Klan, that's the only thing. (Hisses, boos and jeers.)

The Chairman, "The officers will preserve order."

A voice, "Clear the galleries of the hoodlums."

The Chairman, "Or these proceedings will cease. Please let us have order here."

Mr. Bryan, "Citizens of New York, you show your appreciation of the honor we did you in holding our convention here." (A confusion of cries from the floor with the Chairman rapping for order.)

The Chairman, "If the speaker is again interrupted by the galleries, they will be cleared. (Applause and some hisses.) I shall order this in the name of the delegates of the convention for whom I speak. I warn the delegates that this speaker is to continue and that without interruption from them."

Mr. Bryan, "Let me place before you the five reasons which I submit to your judgments and your conscience First, this plank, these three words, are not necessary.

A voice, "Yes they are."

Other voices, "Put him out! Put him out!"

Mr. Bryan, "There is not a state in the Union where any body whose rights are denied cannot go and find redress. (Applause.) Not a state in the Union; and the Democratic party in its platform, the part of it on which we all agree, in words as strong as can be written, with emphasis as strong as can be employed, puts all the strength of the party back of every right, especially back of the right of religious liberty for which we stand (Applause,) as well as those who call us cowards because we do not take three words with which they seek to conjure.

"The Catholic church, with its legacy of martyred blood and with all the testimony of its missionaries who went into every line, does not need a great party to protect it. (Cheers and applause.)

"The Jews do not need this resolution. They have Moses. They have Elijah. They have Elisha, who was able to draw back the curtain and show upon the mountain tops an invisible host greater than a thousand Ku Klux Klans. And both the Catholic church and the Jewish faith, have their great characters today who plead for respect for them, and whose pleading is not in vain."

Mr. Bryan referred to the address by Bainbridge Colby, in favor of the minority report, his successor as Secretary of State under the Wilson administration. He said that "Mr. Colby tells you that this is a transient organization; that it will soon die. If that be true, then, really, my friends, the motto of the minority ought to be 'Hurry up, if you would see George, he is nearly gone.' (Laughter.)

"My friends, one objection, that I have in making this issue the paramount issue of this campaign is that I am not willing to lift up the dying embers and start a prairie fire and carry this Klan into every Congressional district of the United States. (Cheers and applause.)

"My third reason is that we have no moral right to let them divert us from as great a mission as our party ever had, (Applause.)

"They say we are cowards, my friends, it requires more courage to fight the Republican party than it does to fight a Ku Klux Klan. Here we have farmers driven into bankruptcy, a million driven from the farms in a single year. We find monopoly spreading. We find nearly every line of great industry in the control of gigantic combinations of capital. And while we have distress in this country that cries aloud for relief and while we have a war torn world across the Atlantic that needs our help and our guidance, these minority men say that we lack courage if we do a big work instead of starting out on a little hunt for something which is nearly dead and which will soon pass away. (Applause.)

"You may call me a coward if you will, but there is nothing in my life to justify the charge. ((Applause.) But my friends, I had rather have the anathemas of these misguided Democrats than have to answer on Judgment day for a duty disregarded and a trust deserted. Anybody can fight the Ku Klux Klan, but only the Democratic party can stand between the common people and their oppressors in this land. (Applause.)

"Then, I am not willing to bring discord into my party.

"The Democratic party is united as never before on all economic issues. Now that we are as one, these people tell us that we must turn aside from these things and divide our party with a religious issue and cease to be a great political party. Why, they tell us that if we do not do, the Democratic party will lose a great number. My friends, if the Democratic party will lose a considerable number for being what it has been, how many will it lose if it tries to be what it has never been. The Democratic party has never been a religious organization. The Democratic party has never taken the side of one church against another. The Democratic party must remain true. It cannot surrender its right to exist and the mission that was given it in the days of Jerresson, that it remained trueto in the days of Jackson and to which it was still loyal in the days of Woodrow Wilson."

(Mr. Bryan saved for the last what he considered his greatest argument. Read it in Monday's issue.)

things of interest—we managed to "do" New York City.

Mr. Adair has so creditably given the details of the Democratic convention that I would not dare to trespass in this field, but perhaps a few of my own impressions will not be amiss.

Not Tiresome, Yes!

I have been asked if it was not tiresome sitting through the long sessions. It was no more tiresome than is a three-ring circus; and as you know Ringling Brothers and Barunm and Bailey open their Spring shows in Madison Square Garden. The large auditorium was beautifully decorated in American flags and bunting; and there were many well-dressed women there to add to the colorful panorama. One woman delegate proved herself oblivious to her surroundings by calmly sitting under a Japanese umbrella during the heat of the day. The spectators proved that one could begin on time if the delegates had only been seated; as it was Senator Walsh, the permanent chairman, only by repeated hammerings of his gavel and crying "Let the delegates be seated," and with the aid of some five hundred New York policemen managed to begin no earlier than an hour late. The band, even if it did cost the convention five hundred dollars a day, added much to my enjoyment. The music was always appropriate; as when the lady who had been made chairman of the Credentials Committee stepped forward to make her report, the band played; "The Old Gray Mare Aint What She Used to Be," and the delegates and galleries cheered this heretofore unusual sight of a woman as chairman of an important committee making her report at a political convention. When Senator Robinson of Arkansas was nominated the band struck up the tune of "Arkansas Traveler;" and "Beautiful Ohio" when Cox was nominated. It occurred to me that it might have played "How Dry I Am" when they had the Smith demonstration, instead "The Sidewalks of New York" was the favorite piece. I think the most fitting piece played was "Glory, Glory, Halleluiah" when Davis at last won the nomination.

Party Praises Peace Plan of L. of N.

I enjoyed Newton D. Baker's nominating speech for Mr. Cox. It was really a defense of the League of Nations. In New York there has been erected a monument to peace, on top of which is a light, symbolizing the eternal light to perpetuate the peace the soldiers fought for in France. This sentiment was clearly reflected in the outbursts of cheering whenever the League of Nations was mentioned in the convention. That was the nearest an approach to harmony the delegates displayed except one other point. They unanimously agred that during the Republican administration the country had gone to the bow wows and only the Democratic party could save it.

It was a surprise to me to hear the applause which greeted many of the ministers who invoked God's blessings upon the convention when they were introduced, and frequently their prayers were applauded.

Bryan—Grand Old Man.

The grand old man of the Democratic party, William Jennings Bryan, was there in all his glory. While his enemies may cordially hate him they must admit, it seems to me, that he was more of a leader than any of other men present. The purty platform is generally regarded as a triumph for Mr. Bryan. When Mr. Jennings came before the convention and told of the struggles the Resolutions Committee had had, and how, after a night fraught with difficulties and almost party dissention, Mr. Bryan in the early morning hours led the committee in prayer for Divine guidance—it made a profound impression upon the audience.

Will Rogers said that the wars between France and Germany, the earthquakes in Japan, and the typhoons in Korea were natural periodical phenomena, but the United States was the only country to bring a calamity on itself every four years. If each convention could be held in a city so fraught with interest as New York it would not be a calamity.

Skyline of New York.

The skyline of New York is probably the city's greatest sight. Blasco Ibanez said that the sight of it made him proud to realize that he was a man when he saw what the brain and hand of man had done on Manhattan Island. An excellent view is obtained from the Woolworth Tower. An endless variety of shops on Fifth Avenue is an interesting sight. The Bronx Zoo with its collection of animals, birds and reptiles is the largest in the world. They can be seen in surroundings similar to their natural habitat. The Aquarium at Battery Park displays live fish from all waters in plate glass tanks. From Battery Park one may go by boat to Bedloe's Island where stands the Statue of Liberty. The statue is much larger when viewed close at hand than is dreamed of by reading about it. As is known to most everyone, it is a gift raised by popular subscription from the people of France. The Metropolitan Art Museum bewilders one by its immensity. The original paintings and works of sculpture fill the art lover with awe. The armor collection calls back the days of "When Knighthood Was in Flower." The Sub-Treasury building, just across the street from the New York Stock Exchange, is another interesting place. It was here that Washington took the oath of office as President of the United States in 1789.

Kaleidoscope Bowery.

The Bowery is a kaleidoscope of push carts, street venders of all kinds, cheap looking shows, boys playing cards and throwing dice in the doorways and on the sidewalks, children playing in the streets, people leaning out the windows for a breath of air, and from every window a line of clothes. (It must be "Blue Monday" every day.) And little babies being rocked to sleep in hamocks swinging on fire escapes. We were told that one-seventh of the population of New York lives in this district, an area of one square mile, and that sixty-five languages are taught in the school. The Methodist Church built, as one of the first fruits of the Centenary, a building in this district called The Church of all Nations. It is five stories high, contains kindergarten, club and class rooms, has a chapel for worship, and seeks to meet the needs of these people. It is built on the site where the first Methodist Missionary Society in America was organized. Another interesting building in lower New York is John Street Methodist Church, which is the first Methodist Church building in America. It was first built in 1768. There is a clock in it over 157 years old given by Charles Wesley, and a chair brought from England by Francis Asbury over 150 years ago.

Trinity Cathedral.

The Trinity Cathedral is a noted place, also the old church yard on either side of the building. The oldest grave is dated 1681. Alexander Hamilton and Robert Fulton are buried here. The Little Church Around the Corner is no doubt the most famous and best beloved church in America. It has an air of prayer within its walls that is inescapable. There is a placard in the entrance of the church asking you to not leave the building without offering a prayer for yourself, for the church and those who labor in the church.

I have often thought that our protestant churches should be open more often to the public and be made attractive to all people. In our trip this summer we did not read or hear of any Protestant churches being open to the public and containing treasures of a sacred nature, but everywhere we went churches of other denominations were open.

Philadelphia Interesting.

There were three places of interest to us in Philadelphia, Independence Hall with its historical treasures and paintings by Ferris depicting the history of the United States from 1492 to 1812; the Curtis Publishing Building with its mural decorations by Maxfield Parrish and "The Dream Garden" the largest piece of mosaic work in the world, composed of over one million pieces of specially fired glass; and Temple Baptist Church and Temple University, where we heard Dr. Russel H. Conwell preach. He has been pastor of this church for over forty years. Having heard him deliver his famous lecture, "Acres of Diamonds," I was anxious to hear him preach and to see the University he has built from the proceeds of his lecture. Truly, he has best exemplified the truth of his lecture in that he has found the diamonds of happiness in his own back-yard.

Washington Beautiful.

We voted Washington to be the most beautiful place we visited. The beautiful trees, grass and flowers were most restful after the brick and mortar of New York, the grime of Philadelphia, and even the magnificent spectacle of the ocean at Atlantic City. I think I most enjoyed seeing Washington's Monument. Like many other things in life, you can not escape this monument; wherever you go in Washington you can turn and see it rising high toward the dome of heaven.

The most beautiful building we saw was the Congressional Library. It is a marble palace, and it is no wonder that Lord Northcliffe said it surpassed in beauty any other building in the world.

In striking contrast to New York, we were made to feel that Washington was ours to enjoy. And through the kindness of Mr. Luther Johnson, Congressman from this District, we were privileged to go through some of the rooms in the White House not open to the public in general, and to go over the President's yacht, the Mayflower.

The National Educational Association was in session the week we were in Washington. We heard Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt address this body. She made a strong plea for the League of Nations. In discussing the method used in teaching history—which always glorifies the warrior—she said that almost one hundred per cent of the heathen monuments were erected to religion, ninety per cent of ours to some phase of war. She suggested a complete change in the method of writing and teaching history, and predicted this would result in a Secretary of International Friendship rather than a Secretary of War. The Hawaiian teachers decorated each one with lei made by their school children. There were delegates from fifty-two states and territories at this convention. I thought it was quite a coincidence that President Coolidge addressed the teachers on the Fourth of July on his fifty-second birthday. He was presented with a beautiful floral basket as a token of esteem. I think the most striking statements he made were: "American ideals do not require to be changed so much as they require to be understood and applied. It is no longer so solicitous to catalogue the powers which it possesses, as to direct those great forces for the spiritual advancement of the American people at home and the discharge of our obligations to humanity abroad."

Washington Cathedral.

The Washington Cathedral, where Woodrow Wilson is buried, will be the Westminster of America when completed. The estimated cost is $10,000,000. It is a memorial to the founders of the Republic, and to its preservers, especially those of the great war. It is located on the same area as the Temple enclosure at Jerusalem, and is situated at the same elevation above Washington as the Temple is above Jerusalem. The Apse or Sanctuary, one-twelfth of the whole building, is completed. In the Baptistry is the Jordan Font, which is lined with stones brought from the Damascus Ford of the River Jordan. In the Crypt, Bethlehem Chapel, Wilson is buried. Above the door of the Chapel are these words: "He was a man of peace." While they were written of Christ they are suited to the principles for which Wilson worked, and in the final completion of the unfinished task in the erection of this Cathedral I saw symbolized the consummation of those ideals for which Wilson stood.

We spent one day in making a pilgrimage to Mount Vernon—our Nation's sacred shrine. An average of 1,000 people a day visit Washington's home to see the intimate treasures in this beautiful place. From Mount Vernon we went to Arlington Cemetery, and visited Robert E. Lee's home. A raised flower bed tells the tragic history of Arlington Cemetery: "Unknown 4,713, Known 29,333." This is the Grim Reaper's toll of the battlefield that lies buried in this cemetery. Over four thousand soldiers of the last war lie here. The tomb of the Unknown Soldier is just in front of the magnificent Ampitheatre.

Regardless of party differences should it not be the aim of all Americans to prevent the ravages of war and make it unnecessary to fill another Arlington with young Americans sacrificed upon the altar of Mars?

"For Mexia, I WILL"

AN EDUCATIONAL VICTORY FOR TEXAS

"The Texas Presbyterian Educational Movement Reports Texas Presbyterian Educational Victory"

This was the announcement made Tuesday, July 15, to the 43,000 Southern Presbyterians of Texas by the State Executive Committee. It was an educational victory. The securing of $1,550,000 in pledges for Southern Presbyterian schools and colleges in Texas marks a new era for Christian education in Texas. It means a forward step by the forces of that church for this great cause, undergirdling as it does every phase of church life and activity. It means the institutions in Texas under the control of this church are no longer to be hampered by debt and worry. They are free to take their place with the schools and colleges of other denominations and have a part in the great educational revival now going on in Texas.

For nearly a year now the campaign forces working under the direction of the Committee of Christian Education, of which Dr. Henry H. Sweets is executive secretary, have been busy in Texas. Before the Synod formally authorized the campaigns and officially fixed the quota on September 11, 1928, much preliminary work had been done. Church lists had been secured. Literature had been mailed out to many of the church officers and ministers. The campaign force was ready to begin as soon as the official order was issued.

On September 11 Synod met at the First Presbyterian Church in Dallas. The reports of the committee on schools and colleges was read and unanimously adopted. The report recommended $1,350,000 be secured for our institutions.

The work was on. For months the canvass was conducted. In the smaller churches the field men worked among the congregations. In the larger churches the local members were organized and canvassed under the direction of the campaign forces.

Finally in June the State Executive Committee met and learned that about $250,000 was yet to be secured. Every effort was made to close up the work not later than July 15.

It has been done.

And the First Presbyterian church of Mexia had a real part in this victory, which must be extremely gratifying to the membership and to the entirecommunity.

MANUAL LABOR FOUNDATION OF SERVICE

The Mexia School Board, Superintendent Puckett, Mr Evans and the entire faculty, as well as patrons and pupils of the Mexia High School are to be congratulated most generously because of the improved standing and increased service of the manual labor department of the Mexia High School.

Life is divided into many fields of service. The best schools are the ones that meet this demand and most acceptably prepare the rising generation for the various trades, pursuits, professions and callings of the world.

Some of these require dexterity, tact, genius and all of them require head work and labor. At the very foundation of all attempt and accomplishment is manual labor.

The Domestic Science department of school life, too, really a part of Manual Labor, is one of the most modern and serviceable contributions to civilization. "The girl in the kitchen" may be a drudge or she may be a queen. It all depends upon processes preparatory, upon her motive, her ideals and her ruling purposes.

Limestone County boys and girls should be trained to love home, to honor industry and to put a true estimate on neatness and taste, on economy and common sense, to respect everybody who believes in self support and to strive themselves to prepare to be self sustaining, whether dressed in satin or calico, in broadcloth or overalls; whether seated at the table or serving those seated at it and who bear in mind always that the real measure of individual worth is as God estimates it and as common sense of society judges it

Call Issued For County Convention

By virtue of authority vested in me as Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of Limestone county, I hereby call upon each precinct chairman to hold conventions on Saturday, July 20, to elect delegates to the county convention, which will meet Saturday, August 2, at 10 00 A M. at Groesbeck, Texas E A ALLEN Chairman,
Democratic Executive Committee,
Limestone County, Texas.

For The Woman Who Would Be First

From Paris itself -----advance styles of the new season

Many follow—but to lead is the privilege of few.

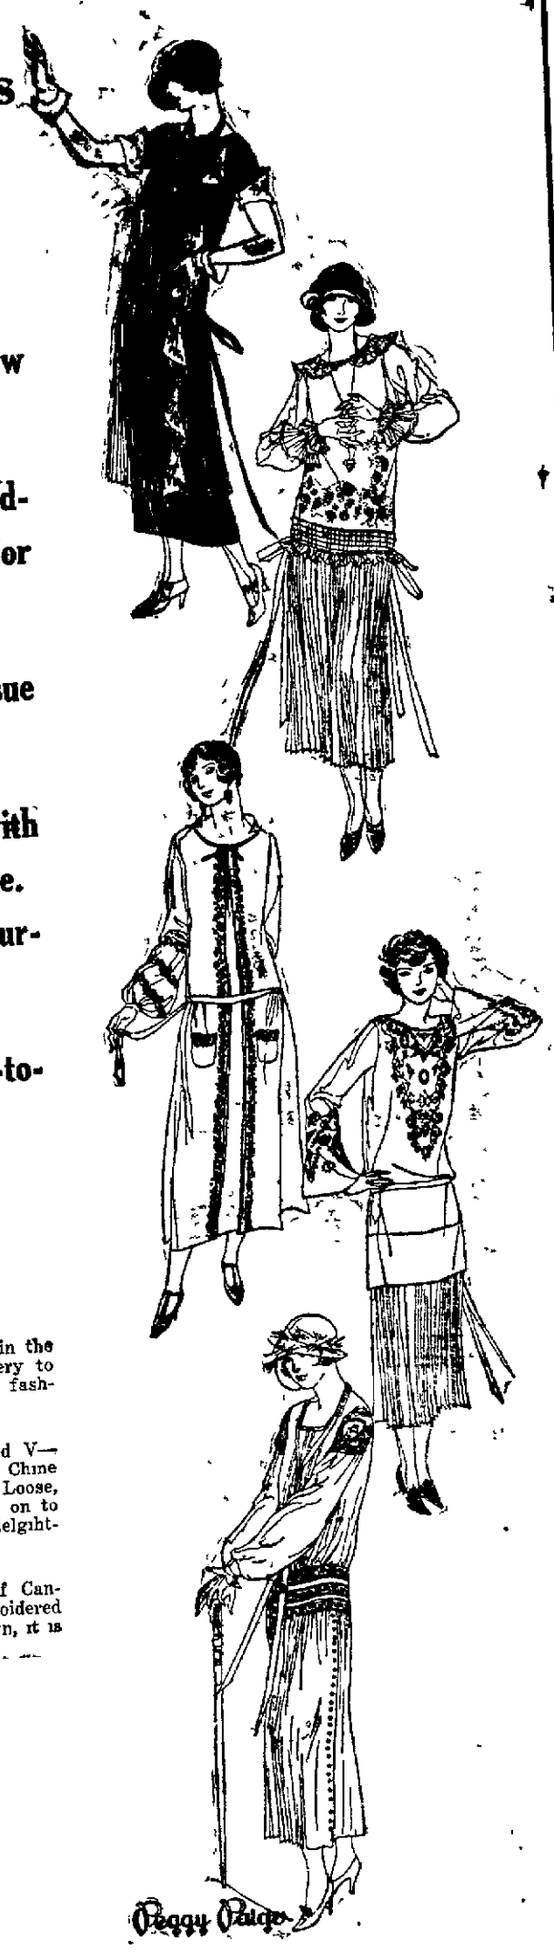
And to you smart women who prize that privilege these newest of the new frocks will appeal.

Direct to us from the petite Peggy Paige of Paris they come—each an advance-season style—each a charming interpretation of the new mode for autumn—the first to be shown in this city.

(We suggest, by the way, that you turn to the pages of the current issue of Vogue, where you'll find these self-same dress pictured!)

And most bewitching they are—youthful, carefree, smartly slim, and with that piquancy of style which Peggy Paige alone knows how to produce. These frocks—new in every detail—will give that poise and self-assurance that comes with the knowledgethat you are correctly clad.

You will find, too, just the frock you need to bring your wardrobe up-to-date—such a frock as only the few are wearing.



THE DRESSES

HERMIONE—a frock of the new lustre crepe satin, decreed by Paris as the smartest fabric for early fall, embroidered chiffon godets at each side of the skirt.

FREDAINE—is fashioned of "Peggy Crepe." It is beaded and embroidered in copper, green and brown.

ROSEMONDE—Tiny trailing blossoms in the softest of colorings form the embroidery to this chic frock of Canton crepe, which fashion has once again made smart.

EMERAUDE—a deep gold embroidered V—of a Chinese-like blue-green Crepe de Chine is set into the front of the bodice. Loose, open cuffs of the same blue-green, set on to tight sleeves at the elbows, afford a delightful contrast.

BERENICE—a straight lined frock of Canton crepe. In black the dress is embroidered in Copenhagen blue and silver; in brown, it is embroidered in tan and dull gold.

THE MORNING FROCK; DON'T BE SLOPPY GIRLS

By HEDDA HOYT
(Fashion Editor of The United Press)
(Written for United Press)

NEW YORK, July 19.—Women of large cities are apt to know very little about morning frocks. Most of them airing their apartments in last season's dinner gown, covered by a gingham apron.

No woman looks well in the early morning cleaning up the results of last night's bridge party, in a dilapidated frock with decollette lines and minus portions of its beadwork.

How much better a swee little gingham house-dress looks about the home. One can choose many lovely light colors which can't be worn discriminately on the streets.

Pre-shrunk linens, ginghams, flowered fretonnes, voiles and cotton crepes are all materials suitable for house-frock, the newest of which are made on dress lines rather than apron lines. Many women make their house dresses themselves, using a simple straight-lined patern which requires but two side-seams. Necks are cut rounding and sleeves are short and a sash belt is placed at a low waistline. Pockets may be added on the sides and white organdy or linc collars tend to take away the apron appearance.

It is nice to have at least four of these dresses, choosing each dress of a different shade. Yellow and white checkd gingham is always pretty about the house and gets away from the popular pink or blue color-scheme which most women seem to prefer. Brown and white checked gingham is also neat in appearance and holds its color well in laundering.

The house-dress of today is not supposed to look like a house-dress. It has the fit and lines of the street frock. One can run to the corner grocery without creating any excitement whatsoever in the modern working frock.

The woman who does no heavy work will find voiles in pastel shades lovely for house-wear, as they are cool and launder well. Cotton crepe is also a good material, as it is easily ironed, or may be worn without ironing.

Little aprons of cretonne may be worn over the house-frock of plain colored material The rubberized aprons which come in colors are also lovely for housework. One may match the apron with the frock, if one so desires.

New Sports Coat

At a nearby resort I saw, for the first time, cretonne used as a sports coat Over a white silk skirt and white silk blouse a colorful cretonne jacquette was worn. There were no sleeves in this jacquette and it was bound about the edges in plain color The jacquette opened up the front with lapels as a neck finish

Nothing could be more suitable for a traveling dress than a smart cape-back dress with long sleeves. The cape-dress combination will be found cooler than the suit for summer travel and, at the same time, has the tailored appearance demanded for travel. Small checked materials are admirable for traveling purposes as they do not show the dust as do plain dark colors.

Sweaters are passe, and in their place are sweater-blouses, which are made of cotton or silk material and fashioned on the slip-on sweater lines. These are much cooler than wool sweaters, launder well and fit into the niche left vacant by the ousted sweater.

With the summery frocks are carried little flowered taffeta handbags with the design of the flowers outlined in steel beads. These are gathered about the top with a narrow grosgraine ribbon.

Several younger girls appeared last week with their wristwatches attached to white grosgraine ribbon instead of the popular gray or black ribbon. For white frocks the white ribbon about the wrist seems quite appropriate.

Large straw hats of inexpensive type may be made very lovely by facing them with flowered chiffon on the under brim.

NEW OLYMPIC REGULATIONS HURT UNITED STATES

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, July 17.—The regulation limiting number of contestants in each Olympic event to four, and requiring the entries to be made in advance, worked out decidedly to the disadvantage of this country,

Take the case of the broad jump, for instance.

Our coaches were forced to guess which of a number of excellent jumpers to enter in this event. They finally decided upon DeHart Hubbard, negro star from Michigan; Ned Gourdin, another negro; Comins, the intercollegiate champion, and Rose of the Pacific Coast.

The day before the broad jump was contested at Paris, Bob LeGendre, former Georgetown University star, who hails from Newark, went out in the pentathlon and jumped 25 feet 6 inches, a new world's record. It was too late to enter him in the broad jump.

As it turned out, Hubbard's leap of 24 feet 6 inches, a whole foot less than that of LeGendre, was enough to win. Hubbard hurt himself in making this jump, but no one else exceeded it Ned Gourdin took second, but Comins was injured and Rose failed to qualify.

Had it been possible to put our best strength into the event, the United States would have scored at least four more points

Something of the same sort happened in the 400 meters Stevenson, the former Tiger quarter-miler, who later ran at Oxford, was not placed on the American entry list for this event He was however taken along as a possible member of the 1 600-meter relay team

When the team got to Paris, Mill started running like a house afire He took to the Paris air and the track at Colombes Stadium and ran rings around all the Americans with whom he trained He was reeling off 400 mete, trial in record time, but it was too late to get him in the event

Lest out of his last year in defying the edict of the A A U and going to Paris to compete in the French games which he ran exhibitions, Charley Paddock was the most popular of our athletes with the French public at the Colombes Stadium They felt quite a little antagonism towards the American team owing to ling which was not entirely unprovoked and looked upon Paddock as somewhat of a renegade and so favored him The was most unjust to Charley, who had not only cooperated warmly with his coaches and team mates but has made friend with Loren Murchyson The two used to be bitter enemies

Paddock reputation as a world beating sprinter had preceded him to England and his individuality attracted attention among the British so much so that the Prince of Wales called Charley over to the box of honor and had a chat with him

Paddock was not an altogether amiable figure as he was pointed out as the greatest human and yet was constantly taking dust from his teammates as well others

PRINCE OF WALES GREAT DRAWING CARD

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, July 18—If any promoter would ensure the success of his sporting event, let him persuade the popular Prince of Wales to come Then all he need do is dust off the S R O signs

There is something magnetic about the British heir apparent which draws folks like the at a honey pot He is a better drawing card than Babe Ruth, Jack Dempsey and Mary Pickford rolled into one

The British American polo matches are to be resumed at Meadow Brook this fall, for the first time since 1914 It's been so long since we had these matches that most folk seemed to have forgotten that polo, especially these international affairs is the sort of things and somehow to go to just to say youve been there

The tickets which are expensive, aren't going like hot cakes, or anything of the sort So the United States Polo Association announced that the Prince of Wales would attend

For the next few weeks the postmen groaned beneath the load of applications for tickets from all parts of the country There was a deluge of letters each morning at the association's headquarters Everyone and his wife—particularly his wife, perhaps—just had to go to see the polo this fall. Telephones jangled continuously with demands for reservations A few days ago the seat sale was thrown open to the public. And even though the prince's coming is somewhat uncertain, there are practically no seats left for the polo.

It's the same way with a fight. When Tex Rickard was flirting with a calendar, trying to pick the best date for the (maybe) Wills-Firpo fight, he bethought himself of nights that were unacceptable and days that wouldn't do. Then he read about the Prince of Wales' coming to this country, and the problem was solved. Tex selected Sept. 5, and immediately laid plans to persuade his royal highness to attend, knowing full well that if word got around that the prince was to be there, there would be no vacant seats.

The chances are that if the prince actually does see the fight, however, it will be in strictest incognito, accompanied by an announcement that he will not be there. Considering the unwieldiness of a big fight crowd at night, the authorities are not anxious to take a chance with the distinguished visitor's comfort.

It has always been a bit of mystery as to whether Wales was present at the Dempsey-Firpo fight—that never to be forgotten night at the Polo Grounds last summer. The report got around that "Lord Renfrew" had slipped down from Canada and was among those present. It was never confirmed. Sometimes Tex wouldn't deny it; sometimes he would.

The proposal has been made to mount the Prince of Wales and have him participate in some practice matches at Meadowbrook.

The prospect of seeing the heir to the British throne do one of his celebrated brodies from the back of a galloping nag is certainly an entic ing one to the American sports lover. After, all, it seems only fair that the United States should see one fall in 15; aren't we cousins and all that sort of thing?

The young gentleman who picks situation isn't as likely to succeed as the young man who hustles for a job.

THERE'S ART IN BOBBING

It's no longer a question of snip, snip and it's off.

Particular women now demand that the hair which remains form a becoming frame for the face and gracefully outlined head.

That's where "art" comes in, for there are as many styles of bobs as there are bobbed haired girls and women. Each one is an individual problem of chin, eyes, nose and mouth.

Then there's the fashionable element — the smart touch which has always associated Paris with women's coiffures——

And the necessity of keeping the hair glossy, fluffy and clean.

All that fastidious women desire will be accomplished by a weekly visit and a small sum well spent at

Huge Engineering Project Completed By A. E. Humphreys

Friends of Colonel A. E. Humphreys here are receiving copies of last Sunday's Denver Rocky Mountain News which carries in its pictorial section a page of photographs of a huge engineering project conducted by the former Mexia oil magnate in the Rio Grande National Forest. The pictures portray wonderful development and the statement on the page says:

New Humphreys Mountain Dam.

The new Humphreys dam shown in the accompanying photographs is one of the finest examples of structural engineering in the state and is owned by Col. A. E. Humphreys of Denver. It is located on Goose creek in the Rio Grande National forest, 300 miles southwest of Denver and was completed last month at a cost of more than $300,000. It is estimated that the fall of water over the dam will generate 450 horsepower. Licenses have been obtained for development of this water power and the erection of transmission lines across the Rio Grande forest. It is being planned to utilize the power thus generated in operating the Fluorspar mines five miles below the dam.

Thousands of trout will be grown in a large lake which has been formed behind the dam. Colonel Humphreys will turn these fish into Goose creek each year. The high water mark of the lake is just a few feet below the Humphreys summer home in the San Juan mountains. Two smaller lakes formed in the same district will be used for the culture of trout in the various stages of their growth and a fourth lake formed by mountain springs will be used as a hatchery. Fresh water fish will be raised at Shrimp lake to provide food for the trout and will be kept at Hay Press lake until they reach a certain size, when they will be turned into the Humphreys lake and thence into Goose creek.

Carl A. Gould of Denver, engineer in charge of construction, drew up the plans and designs for the entire project. The concrete work was done by Chapman & Pridmore, contractors of Monte Vista, Colo.

Felix D. Robertson
The Common Sense Candidate for Governor

The "Common Sense Candidate." That is the title by which Felix D. Robertson, candidate for Governor, is known throughout the State. It came to him through his record as judge of the City Court of Dallas and later of Criminal District Court No. 1 of Dallas and was earned through his native Texas ability to see through the tangled problems of law to the common sense and the human justice in these problems as they were presented to him.

As a common sense candidate Felix D. Robertson is opposed to the army of boards, bureaus and commissions that give a few men fat salaries and fine titles, but increase the burdens of the taxpayers. He believes there are too many idle public employees with their feet on mahogany desks spending their time doing nothing but waiting for their swollen salaries.

"We have too much government; too many boards, bureaus and commissions; too much buck passing; too much theory; too many idle employees," he says.

When elected Governor Judge Robertson promises to sweep all this useless expense out of the state house at Austin.

Judge Robertson is an elder in the First Baptist church of Dallas. His reputation as a Sunday School lecturer extends throughout the State and he is regarded as one of the most inspired of speakers on religious subjects and the Protestant faith.

When he was City Judge the newspaper men of Dallas called him in all reverence of spirit, "the Praying Judge." This was because when often some erring youth or some slip of a girl confronted with ruin, was brought before him, he was not the unfeeling magistrate, but showed himself kindly in heart and ready with Christian advice. Often he would adjourn court and on his knees pray that such a one might be turned to the better life.

Himself a man who has made his way up by hard work, Judge Robertson sympathizes with the worker, whether in the field or in the shop.

He is a lifelong Democrat. He was born in McLennan county, his grandfather being General Jerome P. Robertson, commander in Hoods Brigade of the Confederate army. His father is Gen. Felix H. Robertson, who was a Brigadier General in Joe Wheeler's corps in the Confederate army. During the world war Judge Robertson was a major in the 132nd field artillery of the Thirty-Sixth Division.

Judge Robertson has been a lifelong prohibitionist, having been active in his fight against the liquor interests for more than twenty years, and an advocate of woman suffrage.

He believes in and stands on the following planks:

Better schools.
Free textbooks.
Strict law enforcement.
Prison system reform.
Better public roads.
Help for ex-service men.
Organized labor.
Homes for tenant farmers.

The Communsense Candidate is a firm believer in rural schools, declaring there should be an apportionment of at least $15.00 per capita for pupils of the same.

The motto to which he has always adhered is: "In a democracy like Texas the children of the poor must have their chance."

FOR BETTER SCHOOLS

TO THE VOTERS OF LIMESTONE COUNTY:

Since my duties in the office have been so urgent, I may not be able to see you in person before the primary election, therefore, I take this means of soliciting your vote, for re-election to the office of county superintendent.

I have attempted to serve the county schools competently for the past four years, and I invite you to examine my record as your county superintendent before you fully decide as to how you will vote. Since I have been in office the enrollment in the rural schools for high school work has increased fifty per cent, 19 school houses and 4 teacherages have been built in the rural schools. Compare the following tables, notice progress as to length of school terms and better trained teachers:

LENGTH OF SCHOOL TERMS (WHITES)

	5 mo. & less	6 mo.	7 mo.	8 mo.	9 mo.
1920:	13	44	13	0	0
1924	0	10	37	20	1

WHITE TEACHERS CERTIFICATES

	2nd grade -	1st grade -	Permanent
1920:	73	61	12
1924:	45	91	24

No other county in the state pays the teachers promptly and without discount. We have had inquiries from many county superintendents asking about our plan. We feel we are on the map educationally and want to stay there.

The efficient execution of the educational affairs of this county requires a careful study of the conditions of each school. This takes much time and experience. We all know that any business could not be successful if firms changed managers every four years. Statistics show that the cities and towns which maintain the best school systems retain their superintendents much longer than four years. Is not the county's system of schools just as important and should not the future citizens of our county receive at least the consideration that the city children have? Surely one who has studied the county system could continue to make it progress. If elected, I expect to continue studying the work and to continue improving the educational standing of our county.

Trusting that you will allow me to "carry on" in the good work, For Better Schools, I am

Sincerely,
MRS. CORA FERGUSON
County Superintendent.

JEFFRIES WINS HIS THIRTEENTH GAME OF SEASON

By HECK

Backing Jefferies great pitching with errorless support that at times was of the most brilliant character the Gushers annexed the final game from the Austin Rangers at Nowlin Park Friday by the score of 2-0 and with shutout the brilliant Jeff ran his string of victories to thirteen and he won his thirteenth game on Friday and Jeff has now passed all hoodoo and jinxs and is now out after Gressett, the Marlin star, who has fifteen wins to his credit. Butler really won the game in the fourth when he drove a long home run over the right field fence and the score would have stayed that way but for the failure of either Gaither or Matlock to cover second on Banner's fine throw to get Fowlkes, the ball going to center and the skipper to third on the play from which he scored on Jones' single to right. The Rangers had but three men left on bases and but one reached second base. Dick Whitworth pitched a splendid game for the Rangers and should have won under ordinary conditions but his mates were helpless before Jeffries and Dick was forced to lose by a shutout score. Whitworth was unhittable in the pinches and fanned nine Gushers most of which came at a time when a hit meant a run.

Marlin is with us now for four games in three days, a double header being on the boards for today and I'll let you guess as to who does the pitching in either game—I don't know.

Cotton Gin Terrors Run Off In Game Played With Kirven

In a fast game of ball last Saturday, the Cotton Gin Terrors ran away with the long end of 18 to 2 score. The Gin boys made a race track out of the park in the first inning. This game was played at Kirven, and the Kirven team decided to take on the Terrors the following Friday.

In two games with Wortham the Cotton Gin team increased their percentage with two good wins. The first game being 5 to 3. The score of the second was 17 to 8.

Friday the Terrors went to Kirven to meet the Green Sox. The Sox won by 13 to 4. The Gin boys were on a vacation it seemed and could not hit the apple.

The lineup of the Cotton Gin team is as follows:

Henry Tisdale, third-base, manager.
Charles Meyer, second-base.
V. Gaines, shortstop.
Johnnie Tisdale, pitcher.
Mil Auld, catcher.
Wright, first-base.
J. Keys, center field.
David Tisdale, left field.
A. Cope, right field.

By HECK

After lamping the Rangers the past three days I can't see where either Waco or Corsicana are going to have any cinch in winning many games from McIver's crew from the way they are hitting he old agate and in Scott, Brooks and Whitworth the Rangers have three flingers that are hard to beat anytime they are working.

Many fans are still wondering why Umpire Price called Naylor out at first in Thursday's game when it was easy to see that Anheier was off the base when Fred crossed the bag. The ruling was that Naylor was out for interference in respect to a throw being made by the catcher from the plate on a relayed play from some other infielder. The rule states that the runner must run "outside" of the base line and in the extra chalk mark provided for such an instance and in this instance Fred ran "inside" of the line and was directly in line with Banner's throw and Anheier was forced off the bag for the throw and Fred was called out for the blunder.

Country Williamson played left field Friday and handled himself in good style considering that he has been working from behind the plate all season. Butler was shifted to center and Otis will work good anywhere he is placed. Bryan is under suspension for the present but for how long no one seems to know.

The suspension of Bryan is to be regretted and it is hoped that he will rectify matters such that he will get back in the game and play the ball that he is capable of playing when he really tries. Bryan has no superior in the minor leagues as an outfielder and to my way of thinking is one of the greatest judges of a fly ball in any league and has a brilliant future in the baseball world but to attain that end he has faults that must be corrected and I sure hope Claude does that right pronto and gets back in the game and reaches the degree of perfection as a ball player that I know he is capable of doing.

Hub Northen has resigned as manager of Texarkana in the East Texas league and it is to be regretted that Dupuy is in this league yet so he could hire Hub as manager. I guess Hub and Dupuy would get along in great style—I don't think.

Tiner, ex-Gusher hurler, is now playing outfield for the Groesbeck clubs and they do say down in the county capitol that Tiner is a second Babe Ruth as a slugger and they can't understand why he was ever let out of the league.

I have been scouting around the bushes and have seen several good prospects among the semi-pro clubs but I can't see where they get the dope about Minnick, the Groesbeck first baseman, being a star. Minnick is a grandstander of the first water and a sucker for a pitcher with a curve ball. Minnick is a giant in size and has prospects of becoming a really great first baseman but he will never learn it by playing where he is now and also the way he is playing the bag for the cheers of the grandstand is about the worst thing a young player can do.

In Bedford the Austin club has about the best outfield prospect in the league and to my notion he is the very best. This boy is a real ball hawk, is a natural hitter and hits 'em far and wide and is about the fastest man in the league getting to first on his hits. During the last series he made the Gushers infield play at top speed to get him on infield plays and the least bobble makes him a sure bet to reach the initial bag safely. Scouts are daily watching Bedford and he is the best outfield buy in the league by long odds.

Charley Gressett the Marlin pitching ace, has been sold to Rochester, N. Y. in the International league for fifteen hundred plunks and at this ratio Jefferies is worth at least three thousand. Not that $ mean that Jeff is twice as good as Gressett but as a real prospect Jeff has it on the whole league on account of his youth and it being his first year of professional baseball. Gressett has had more experience than Jeff and has been up in higher class baseball for tryouts. However, the Marlin star is a grand pitcher and a truck horse for work and I can't see why he should not be a big winner in Class AA.

In Brooks, Scott and Whitworth, Austin has three splendid pitchers and it is a mystery why the Rangers are not up there battling for the rag. Whitworth looks great this season and is due for a big promotion this fall. Better keep your eye on the Rangers from now on. They look to be going strong now.

At the present time all scouts I have talked with are looking over pitchers Gressett of Marlin, Whitworth of Austin, Jeffries of Mexia and infielder Ted Jones of the Mexia club with prospects that all will get promoted for next season.

Fats Fleharty was due to open here as an umpire after his release by Austin but Rankin Johnson pleaded with the rotund pitcher and now Fats is wearing a Temple uniform. Fats would have made a wise move if he had taken over the indicator job as he is popular with the fans, and a favorite with the players and the old boy sure knows the game from A to X and that is a lot more than many of our umpires can lay claim to. Robbins has looked good in the games I have seen him work but has the fault of making his decisions too quick and it gets him in a jam on many occasions. Tom Price is the king of them all and I think the best umpire in class D and perhaps higher than that. Stone is Okay but takes too much razzing from the players and that hurts the game, so after all the fans have missed a treat by Fleharty not donning the umps regalia.

Saw a game at Groesbeck the other day between the Goats and the Milford club and the Goats were having a track meet with the upstate boys when old southpaw Gene Moore decided to stop the fun and went in the box. Moore has about the best half-balk motion that was ever in the big leagues. Tiner was on first base when Gene took the mound and as Gene made his freak delivery Tiner dove back into first base while the batter struck at the ball. Tom Price was umpiring a game that Moore was pitching several years ago and there was runners on first and third base and two strikes on the batter at the time. Moore made his freak delivery, the runner on first dove back into the bag, the batter struck out, and all the while the third baseman was tagging the runner out at third base. Guess Gene Moore holds the record for freak deliveries. Anyhow Tiner refused to take his foot off the bag until he saw the catcher with the ball.

Sandy Sanders has left our midst and hied himself back to his home in California. Sanders was considered as Mexia's best best as a pitcher when the season opened and was in splendid shape for a short while until the ravages of fever sent him to the hospital for a long time and it is doubtful whether he will be in his best condition next season although he expects to play a few games in the late fall on the coast. Sanders would probably have been the leagues leading pitcher and his illness was one of the main reasons why the Gushers have not got anywhere in the race.

I look for still further shakeups in the Gusher lineup but can't say where or when because it is only a hunch with me and I have no information from anyone—just an old "Heck" hunch.

FIGHTS AND FIGHTERS

NEW YORK.—Enter an old favorite, the New York State Boxing Commission, the plague of promoters and fighters. Just when Tex Rickard had announced a juicy morsel for the hungry fans in the proposed bout on Aug. 21 between Benny Leonary and Mickey Walker at Jersy City, the commish has some things to say.

They have notified Rickard that he is liable to have his license revoked. Benny Leonard, Mickey Walker, Billy Gibson et al, stand the same chance should the bout took place. While New York has no sanction over the fight in New Jersey is the contention of the commission that Walker must fight Dave Shade for the welter championship before he risks his crown to the hard slugging Bennah. Further announcements are expected today.

ROBERTSON'S ENDORSEMENTS

I am not a politician, but a careful investigation of the records, principles and promises of the candidates for Governor of Texas at this time convinces me that Judge Felix D. Robertson is the best qualified, the most conservative, and by far the safest man in the race to entrust with this high and responsible office. Every man who stands for good, clean government, sanely and safely administered, ought to support Judge Robertson.—W. C. Wright, Plainview, Texas.

I have known Judge Felix D. Robertson for a number of years, and have been intimately associated with him in some measure. My estimate of his character is such as to lead me to unhesitatingly say that he is temperamentally, intellectually, morally, judicially and spiritually competent to be Governor of Texas. Those who know him best love him most as a citizen and official. I unhesitatingly endorse his candidacy for this great office and take pleasure in working for his election.—B. O. Harnell, Pastor Tenth Street Baptist Church, Dallas, Texas.

Feeling as I do that at this time we are facing a crisis in the affairs of our great state, the solution of which will materially enhance her development, or, on the other hand, tend to retard her progress, I desire to add what encouragement I may to your efforts in his behalf. I regard your candidacy as a step forward, and shall make every effort to assist in electing you.—David P. Trammell, Phillips, Trammell & Chizum, Attorneys, Fort Worth, Texas.

On the eve of the approaching election, I want you to know that I am with you. I have full confidence in your ability and your disposition to administer the affairs of State in the best interest of the people. My long acquaintance with you, coupled with the fact that I have had many opportunities of seeing you in action, convinces me more than ever, that the good people would make no mistake in placing you in its highest office. "Efficiency and equity," are your unconscious mottos. Although I have never heard of your promulgating them publicly, but as an observer for many years, I know that they are both a part and parcel of your make up.—W. G. Burton, Fort Worth.

I intended to support the Hon. Felix D. Robertson for Governor from the beginning of the campaign until the election is over. I have in no way changed my mind. I believe him to be thoroughly competent and will make Texas a good Governor if elected. I take pleasure in recommending him to my friends throughout the State of Texas. I know him intimately. He is a sound Democrat and I feel that if he is elected he will make the State an economical, safe and sound Governor.—W. P. McLean, Jr., Fort Worth, Texas.

Please count on me to pull for you for all I am worth, and I most sincerely hope you will be elected.—W. R. Covington, Pastor Highland Park Baptist Church, Texarkana, Texas.

I regard Felix D. Robertson as the outstanding candidate for Governor for the very reason that his platform is more constructive; in that he advocates better schools, free textbooks, strict law enforcement, prison reform and in its final analysis, "Common Sense Government." His plan of cooperation with legislative members prior to the convening of that body should command the vote of every citizen of Texas.—C. M. Cain, Winnsboro, Texas.

I am for Hon. Felix D. Robertson for Governor, and some of the reasons are: I have unshaken faith in him as a tried and true American; as worthy and well qualified to fill the position of Governor of Texas or any State in the Union; as absolutely dependable in every way; as an impartial and able executive. I regard him as a true, clean Christian gentleman.—J. O. Hearne, Waxahachie, Texas.

I endorse the platform of Judge Felix Robertson and believe under the existing conditions it is the duty of every voter in Texas to support him. He is honest, he is capable, and I believe him a safe, sane, common sense executive. J. W. Blake, Ex-Chairman State Democratic Committee, Houston, Texas.

I am supporting Felix D. Robertson for Governor because of his constructive platform and because I believe that he will make Texas the best Governor of recent years. He is an advocate of woman suffrage and will accord woman her place in the affairs of the State. He stands for law enforcement, lower taxes and better educational facilities—three planks that should commend him and his candidacy to every woman in our great State.—Mrs. Emma Wylie Ballard, Founder of Hope Cottage, Dallas, Texas.

I am for Felix D. Robertson of Dallas for Governor. Unless the voters of this State elect this candidate a mistake will be made that may cost Texas an incalculable price. I know him to be a man of high character and great ability, capable of administering the affairs of Texas in the interest of all her citizens and with credit to our great state.—C. W. Gibson, Corpus Christi, Texas.

I am for Felix D. Robertson for Governor because, first, of the constructive common sense platform upon which he is running, and, second, because I have abiding faith in Felix Robertson as a man of character integrity and ability. Never in the history of Texas has there been a time when we needed a leader of Felix D. Robertson's type more than we do now. In him we have a champion of right, and one who will lead this State back into the paths of Democratic teachings. The election of Felix D. Robertson is a forward step that Texas should take at this time.—W. L. Thornton, Member of Rules Committee, Texas Delegation to National Democratic Convention.

I am supporting Judge Felix D. Robertson because his platform is constructive and not destructive, and because it harmonizes with my belief of what the needs of our State demand.—W. A. Hanger, Ft. Worth, Texas.

In voting for Governor the public weal, peace and prosperity should be the controlling factors. In this campaign I am going to vote for Judge Felix D. Robertson. When the Judge stated that he would take Christ into the council chamber while he was Governor, he made a declaration that ought to inspire the Christian conscience and moral manhood of every voter. I remember when Judge Robertson was one of the stalwart prohibitionists that helped us overthrow a conspiracy of the liquor traffic to swamp us under an avalanche of forged and fraudulent poll tax receipts. Having known him and his illustrious father for more than thirty years I am cheerfully supporting him.—J. H. (Cyclone) Davis.

The policies advocated by Felix D. Robertson commend him to me as the outstanding candidate for nomination as Governor of the State of Texas. I have implicit confidence in his integrity, character and ability and am supporting him in his race for this position. In Felix D. Robertson Texas has an opportunity to procure an executive who will rank with Hogg and other immortal leaders of years gone by. M. C. Childers, Dougles, Carter & Childers, Attorneys, San Antonio, Texas.

I heartily endorse the candidacy of Felix D. Robertson for Governor. I believe that his outspoken stand on all important questions in Texas at this time and the platform upon which he is making the race are for the best interests of our State. I believe that the voters should get behind this man of unquestioned ability and elect him as Governor of Texas.—Rev. J. C. Everett, South San Antonio, Texas.

In supporting Judge Felix D. Robertson for Governor of the great state of Texas, I do so because I think he is a man that is possessed of all the qualifications required to fill this most important chair. His common sense platform is clean cut and easily understood by the people.—C. E. McDuffie, Chiropractor, Dallas, Texas.

Having implicit confidence in the integrity, character and ability of Felix D. Robertson of Dallas, I am unhesitatingly supporting him in his candidacy for nomination as Governor of Texas. His election would be the greatest forward step that could be taken at this time.—Rev. S. L. Batchelor, Kingsville, Texas.

Realizing that Felix D. Robertson's outspoken stand on all questions in Texas at this time and the policies he advocates are for the best intrests of our great State, we heartily endorse his candidacy for Governor and ask the people of Texas to work for and support him in this race. We have implicit confidence in his integrity, character and ability.—W. C. Sparks, Roy Jackson and J. E. Holbrook, Sinton, Texas.

I am for Felix D. Robertson for Governor and believe that the people of Texas should get behind this great man and avail themselves of the opportunity to seat as chief executive of the State a leader of unquestioned ability, high character and noble purpose. His common sense platform commends him to me as the outstanding candidate seeking the office of Governor.—D. B. McManus, Thomaston, Texas.

I am for Felix D. Robertson for Governor. I believe his platform is the most constructive, progressive document of the kind that has been offered the voters of Texas in many decades. Back of this platform is a man of brilliant intellect, capable of putting the platform into practice and one who can direct the affairs of this commonwealth in a manner which will accrue to the benefit of all the people of Texas. I am for Robertson for Governor because I believe that he will make this State a great executive.—J. S. Edgar, Cuero, Texas.

I endorse the candidacy of Felix D. Robertson of Dallas County for Governor of our great state. Judge Robertson is first of all a Christian gentleman, a true Democrat and his "common sense" platform is broad and practical enough for every man, woman and child of every race and creed in Texas.—John B. Bell, Pastor First Methodist church, Troup, Texas.

I take this means of assuring you of my support in your candidacy for Governor. You have made a clean, dignified campaign devoid of personalities, and in so doing have presented to the people of Texas a conservative, constructive program of executive procedure which they can endorse with confidence.—Lester White, Red Oak, Texas.

I am endorsing and working for Felix D. Robertson in his campaign to be nominated by the Democrats as Governor of Texas. He is a man of unquestioned ability and when he is elected will administer the affairs of this State in a manner satisfactory to every class. In my mind there is no question but that the voters of Texas will seat Felix D. Robertson as the next Governor. Jesse S. Jones, San Antonio, Texas.

My father served four years in the Civil War with Judge Felix D. Robertson's father and grandfather and has always taught me to believe that two better soldiers never lived. Judge Felix D. Robertson's past record shows him to be the same type of man. I therefore heartily endorse him for Governor of Texas.—H. H. Berryman, Alto, Texas.

I am supporting Robertson for Governor because he is my friend of long standing and because I consider him the best equipped and best qualified man in the race. Since I have known him he has stood for right on all questions. He has my unqualified endorsement. T. M. Campbell, Jr., Palestine, Texas.

I am for Felix D. Robertson of Dallas for Governor because I know him to be the strongest man who is today offering himself for this position. Having known Felix D. Robertson intimately during all the time he was a citizen of Waco, I know him to be a man of high moral character and strong integrity. With the platform that he has promulgated, backed by these qualities, he should, and I believe he will, be seated as Governor of Texas.—Tom M. Hamilton, Waco, Texas.

I heartily endorse the program Judge Felix D. Robertson announced and thoroughly agree with the suggestions made by him in reference to simplifying and co-ordinating the work of the lawmaking body of the State of Texas. For many years we have needed the continuous thought of those charged with making our laws not alone during the ninety days' session of the legislature, but throngout the year. I thoroughly endorse the proposal of co-operation between the various branches of our State Government and believe that its execution will be of great benefit to the people of Texas.—Col. Alvin M. Owsley, Former Head American Legion, in Dallas News of July 13th.

I am for Felix D. Robertson for Governor, because. First, he is sane and sensible on the question of taxation; second, he is for the laboring man and woman and a friend to honest capital; third, he is a prohibitionist by precept and example; fourth, the farmer, ex-service man, business interests and public utilities will receive a square deal from him; fifth, he is by far the best qualified man to fill this great office; sixth, he has made the cleanest campaign ever staged in Texas. He has been too big to throw mud and billify; seventh, because he believes in carrying the principles of Jesus Christ into every department of public and private life.—Rev. A. C. Parker, Dallas, Texas.

Alienists Charged With Spreading Of Vicious Propoganda

CHICAGO, July 18 — Attorneys engaged by the millionaire Leopold and Loeb families in an effort to save their sons from the gallows, "are spreading vicious' propaganda, which is intended to show the boys insane, representatives of the state charge now. The defense according to William O. Krohn, state's alienist, is attempting to paint the careers of young Nathan Leopold, and Richard Loeb "even blacker than they really are so as to make the world believe the murderers are insane."

Reports circulated that Leopold and Loeb had plotted to murder Loeb's younger brother before they changed their plans and killed 14-year-old Robert Franks instead were branded as "vicious lies" by Dr. Krohn.

"The more heinous and diabolic and numerous are the crimes that are laid at the doors of Leopold and Loeb the more incomprehensible the University students will become to the man in the streets," Dr. Krohn explained in defense of his charges.

"When a man does something you can't possibly conceive doing, you will naturally explain it by saying, 'why, that man must be crazy.'"

Reports were given wide circulation that the defense would try to show that Leopold and Loeb first planned to murder Loeb's younger brother and then planned to kidnap Leopold's father were denied vigorously by Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for the defense, nothing but lies, Darrow said Krohn, however, announced every precaution will be taken by the state to thwart any such testimony should it be offered by the defense during the course of the trial which opens August 4.

"The defense will use every means possible," Dr. Krohn predicted "to have these murderers sent to an insane asylum instead of the gallows. They will try to make the jury believe the boys are insane. They will paint the defendants blacker than they really are. They will try to show that they are 'different' from ordinary people.

"A man may depart a long way from the normal conduct of the 'average man,' and still be very sane and responsible.

"Take the so called 'human spider' who earns his living by scrambling up the steep sides of tall office buildings. The average man prefers to be a doctor, clerk or baker. He may even consider the 'human fly' a nut or a 'nut.'

"But suppose the spider from his dizzy height pulls a gun and shoots down into the street and kills a baker. He is just as guilty of murder and just as responsible as if the baker had pulled a gun and shot the spider.

"It is the same with these university students. They departed a long from from the actions of 'average man', they were remarkable students and their interests were along strange lines but that cannot possibly excuse them for the murder they committed."

The interest in the sensational murder trial scheduled to open in criminal court before chief justice John R. Caverly, August 4, is becoming more intense. Both states attorneys and counsel for defense admit it will be a hard fight to obtain twelve men on the jury who are not familiar with the facts in the case and who have not already formed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the confessed slayers.

The Chicago Tribune today offered to broadcast the trial over its radio station WGN, submitting the matter to a vote of its readers. Ballots which each reader is to clip and mail to the Tribune, appear on the first page. The readers are to vote "yes" or "no" on the question of whether the Tribune should broadcast the court room proceedings.

The dingy, grey room where the trial is to be held, has seating capacity for only about 250 people. Of these seats, at least 100 will be occupied by newspaper correspondents and special magazine and feature writers. Visiting jurists will take up many more seats. Because of the small space left to the spectators, the Tribune suggests it might broadcast the trial to the country at large.

Press Associations will be allowed to have their leased telegraph wires directly to the court room, Judge Caverly has ruled, provided their instruments are "noiseless." Every newspaper office in the country therefore will receive reports from the trial in rapid style.

PARIS STYLE HINTS

By ALICE LANGELIER
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, July 15—New Summer frocks look as if they stepped right out of the flower garden. Nearly every one has some kind of flower trimming, unless, of course, it is a feather, for feathers are as marked a mode this Summer, as fur was last Winter.

When real flowers are worn in the evening they are at the topmost point of the shoulder. With artificial flowers there is usually only a single small one, such as a rose or camelia. Flowers and feathers are often mingled. Joseph Paquin mingles roses among a fringe of ostrich feathers on the bottom of a black stain chemise frock, which drops without a break from shoulders to hem.

Leonora Hughes danced at a large charity fete on Friday night, wearing a flower model from Patout's. It was in shell-pink chiffon, with the skirt made in two scalloped flounces, each trimmed in pink roses scattered here and there. The bodice was held by a band of roses over one shoulder. Nina Payne, the other American dancer, who is a great favorite in Paris, has favored embroidered flowers on several of her dancing frocks. One, is blue mousseline de soie, is embroidered in daintiest flowers and worn over a slip of accordin-pleated lemon-yellow chiffon, with a silver girdle. Another is in yellow crepe romain and the flower design embroidered in pearls.

Nicole Groult is well known for her charming flowered frocks. Flowers are her favorite trimming. One of her latest models is in coeur de rose taffeta, with a gold lace tunic profusely garlanded with vari-colored hand-made silk roses framing a medallion of the head of Madame de Pompadour. Another, in black taffeta is draped toward the back and tied in a huge bow, giving the effect of the old-fashioned bustle, with an apron front of lingerie embroidery and two pockets trimmed with hand-made roses.

Silk flowers are often used to hold drapery in place or merely to add a dash of color. The Miler Soeurs use flowers to break the monotony of a straight chemise frock in manuve crepe georgette embroidered in crystal beads.

There are large silk roses in two shades of manuve at the side.

THEY ALSO EAT PEACHES

DENTON—Not content with feasting off his cotton crop, grasshoppers are invading Sam Harper's orchards eating peaches and gnawing the bark from the fruit trees. Harper declared that so far he has been unable to combat the pests successfully with poison.

UTELLUM

DALLAS.—Paging will be done at the Adolphus hotel in the future by loud speakers—mechanical, not human. The hotel has installed a system of amplifiers and one man does the calling over various parts of the hotel by speaking in an ordinary tone of voice into a transmitter.

MEXIA YOUTHS TELL OF TRIP TO FAMOUS PARK IN NORTHWEST 2000 MILES FROM HOME TOWN

Monday, 12:30.

(Written while riding—
mailed at Butte, Mont.)
Mr. S. N. Forrest,
Mexia, Texas.

I am trying to write this letter while we are driving. It is some job. We got out of Yellowstone Park yesterday, came out the north entrance by Gardiner, Montana. We sure are having a good time, eating and sleeping, mostly. We saw more than we will ever be able to remember in the park. The bears are sure tame. We saw some buffalo, little elk, lots of bears, black and brown, little cubs and big ones, in fact, a big black bear got up in the front seat of our car (we were not in it at the time.) We have about seventy-two pictures but guess we will have to send them home to be developed.

We made the loop around the park and half way around again in one week exactly and saw it all. The park sure is a high-powered place. We bought five gallons of gasoline at 50c per gallon but outside it is 34c. Everything seems rather reasonable.

We stayed at Livingston, Montana, last night. Sure was a fine place to camp. They had plenty of hot water, two wash tubs, two rub boards and we did our three weeks washing last night and gave ourselves a good scrubbing.

We have had no trouble whatever except one puncture at Thermopolis, Wyoming. The truck sure runs fine and it holds together wonderfully. We sure are falling in love with these beds more and more each night, especially when it is raining. It rained a little on us every day while in the park but we didn't mind it. We would hear other people driving their tent poles down so the wind wouldn't blow their tents down and we were glad that we didn't have a tent. We built bon fires to keep us warm. It sure was cold. Those two pair of blankets seemed like a sheet, however, we kept plenty warm and did not wake up very early in the mornings.

Tell Uncle Ben that if we could have charged a dime to demonstrate the truck to other tourists we could pay our expenses with the proceeds. They all say it is the best they have seen. We know it is.

When we were in the park we went swimming in the Mammouth Hot Spring. I would hate to go swimming in the river, because it is a puzzle to me why it does not freeze. If they call this summer I would hate to be here in the winter, because I know it must get very cold.

We expect to stay in Butte tonight. We should get into Canada about Thursday. We think we will go to Macleod, Alberta, Canada, don't know exactly how we will go from there, it may be east and it may be west.

Guess I will have to stop scribbling because it is about my time to drive. We change about every twenty-five miles.

Love to everybody,
Machon Forrest.

P. S.—The speedometer registered exactly 2013 miles, so we are 2000 miles from Mexia and still going strong.

Telegram.
Macleod, Alberta, Canada.
July 18th, 1924.

B. S. Smith,
Mexia, Texas.

We arrived at Macleod this afternoon. Everything fine. Leave in the morning. We are having a great trip. The truck is running perfectly. We have enjoyed every minute of the trip. Have just left Glacier Park. Do not know where we will go from Macleod but probably Spokane. Love. Tell all our Mexia friends hello.

Jim Smith and
Machon Forrest.

BLACKMON BOOSTERS PASS THROUGH MEXIA

About 9 o'clock Saturday morning about a dozen cars from Groesbeck arrived in Mexia, and being joined here by several more, proceeded to Wortham and thence to other Freestone county towns. The cars all carried banners advocating Judge A. M. Blackmon for reelection as judge of the 77th district court.

The party was made up of friends and supporters of Judge Blackmon, and represented some of the most prominent men and women of the capital city.

The building on Main Street lately vacated by the Walton Furniture company, is being repaired and remodeled to be occupied by a grocery store.

Tonsils and Adenoids

Letter No. 6

Giving the Child a Better Chance.

IS YOUR CHILD HANDICAPPED?

Does your child's nose run or is it sore? Does the child snuffle?

Are the eyes red? Are there fever sores or eczema around the nose and mouth?

Does the child seem dull? Does it stand and look at you with open mouth?

Does it put its hands to its head as though it had earache? Does it take cold easily?

Does the child sleep with its mouth open? Does it snore?

If the answer to any of these is Yes, ask the doctor if the child has adenoids or large tonsils.

Tonsils

Tonsils often become diseased and stick out into the throat. Sometimes they do not get any larger but become diseased and contain little cups filled with infection. These diseased tonsils often hold poisonous germs which may cause throat trouble or may be carried to other parts of the body and cause sickness.

Adenoids

Adenoids look like a little head of cauliflower, colored red. They grow in the back part of the throat where the nose and throat join, and can be seen only by the doctor with a special mirror. They stop up the nose and make the child breathe through its mouth.

When the child breathes through the mouth, much dust and many germs get into the body.

Adenoids should always be removed.

Earache

Earache often means that the child has adenoids. Earache always means that the child is in danger of getting deaf. Also the child is in danger of getting a running ear and there is danger of the disease reaching the brain. A running ear should always be treated by an ear doctor, it will not get well without good care.

Large Glands

Often poison gathers in the nose, throat or ears. The glands of the neck try to carry this poison away. This overwork makes the glands enlarge and lumps often form.

Other Diseases

Diseased tonsils and adenoids hold poisonous germs which frequently are carried to other parts of the body and cause sickness. Rheumatism and heart disease often come in this way. These germs also cause stomach, bowel or lung diseases.

A child with adenoids and diseased tonsils can get diptheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough very easily. Such a child will have the disease worse than a child who has had adenoids and diseased tonsils removed.

Stupid Children

Often children who seem stupid and who do not learn rapidly can be made healthy and normal by the removal of diseased tonsils and adenoids.

It is wrong to blame children for backwardness when they cannot hear, see or smell properly or are suffering from pains from diseased tonsils or adenoids.

Have Them Removed

Adenoids and diseased tonsils can be removed at any time of the year. Don't wait, thinking they will get better. It is dangerous. The child may lose its hearing if you put it off.

Watch carefully for the danger signals—mouth breathing and earache.

Always go to a good doctor at once.

Will be glad to make examination free and explain in detail.

PERSIAN MOB KILLS AMERICAN VICE CONSUL

RAILROAD COMMISSION APPROVES PROPOSED RAILROAD

By MRS. W. B. LANDRUM

I can imagine nothing better than being asked to write about my trip this summer. Whether Mr. Adair was prompted by the thought that what I might write would be interesting, or whether my long-suffering but patient friends prevailed upon him to let me use this medium of telling all about it will ever remain a mystery.

There were four in our party: my mother, brother, Mr. Landrum and I. We went on the Arkansas Special to New York, making but one stop (except to change crews or engines,) which was at Niagara Falls. We saw this wonder at sunrise, and the myriads of rainbows over the Falls and in the heavy mist made it an ever-remember sight. The Arkansas delegates and visitors were met at the Grand Central terminal by an official welcoming committee and a special corps of motorcycle "cops;" whether there is any significance to be atached to this I do not know. I did not see who met the Texas train. This was our first thrill—to be taken through the traffic of New York escorted by a special detachment of the police to the hotel in which we had made reservation.

Mr. Landrum Disappointed.

Our first night and day in New York was rather disappointing. I felt that New York had been greatly exaggerated, and Mr. Landrum was ready to come home because he could not see the Woolworth building the minute he stepped off the train. But in the language of the Queen of Sheba, "the half has never yet been told." By frequently consulting Rand McNally's guide book of New York, the official guide book souvenirs of Mayor Hylan, and Rider's New York City—which in 670 pages describes the

THE POLLS WILL TELL!

Following an editorial in Wednesday's Mexia Daily News, under the head of "Limestone County Injured," in which an attack was made upon the Commissioners Court for its action in fighting the State High way Department and the new automobile tax law, it has been called to the attention of The News that Commissoner John Kennedy of this precinct opposed the suit and still does so. This explanation is gladly made. The News had no desire to deal in personalities and mentioned the body, including the Commissioners Court Judge, as a body, referring to this act just as reference is commonly made to the acts of a certain legislature, for example, without mentioning the exceptions. It is probably true also that J. R. Dulaney, Commissioner of the Coolidge precinct also was against the injunction suit being brought by Limestone County against the State.

The News knows and the community knows that Mr. Kennedy worked in harmony with the State Highway Department and thereby made it possible to secure the State and Federal aid which built, with little county aid, the magnificent paved strip of highway, between Mexia and Groesbeck, extending four miles along the X-All highway in the shadow of the Golden Lane.

Limestone county is suffering because of the injustice of this suit. This is the only county in the state fighting the new law. So, in case Limestone County Commissioners Court wins the suit in November, it will lose again in the Winter. Limestone county will be politely informed by the other 266 counties of the state that they are not going to sit idly by and permit the Limestone County Court to run the entire State of Texas' highway department. The case will come up in November and in case it is found that the law is unconstitutional, the legislature will be in session in January and will write a law that will be constitutional, containing the same general elements as the present law which is now being attacked. In the meantime, the highways of the county are suffering because of the tie-up of the funds, while the citizens of the county everywhere they go are having to explain that the citizens were not consulted about the suit and that they are good road enthusiasts just like all other progressive people of the state. Also, suppose the county commissioners court wins the suit, will the money raised through automobile tax license be returned to the hard pressed farmers and burdened tax payers? No, indeed! The taxpayers will not be saved a penny, even though the Limestone county commissioners court should win its suit against the State of Texas High way Department.

In case the Commissioners Court loses its case, the damage will have already been done and the years unborn will witness Limestone county citizens continuallly paying for the mistakes of a very few men in public office in this county who are submitting their names for reconsideration at the polls on the 26th of July.

The contested amount in Limestone county today is understood to be less than $25,000, while the entire amount "tied up" by the suit is less than $70,000 at this time.

Within the past four years, Limestone County has received nearly one half million dollars state and federal aid for highways and roads, which has been distributed in all directions and for the service of citizens of the entire county. The government has therefore given the county as much in four years as the contested amount woud involve in 40 years.

The majority of the Commissioners and County Judge may and should control the Court in Limestone County. Commissioner John Kennedy was only one of a body of five and could not keep the court from filing the injunction suit.

But next Saturday is the people's day. They, then, will be permitted to express their ideas on this subject, along with other subjects involving the entire business administration of Limestone county.

The chances are bright for a shake up in the Commissioners Court for the people are not in sympathy with a body that spends more than a half million dollars for a court house, without consulting them in the old fashioned democratic way at the polls and that also takes a step to retard road improvement and to the injury of highways and roads that cost many hundreds of thousands of dollars.

BELAIR, Ohio, July 19.—Kondrat Wosdenkow, 38, was spirited away to the St. Clairsville jail when a mob of 300 miners surrounded the local jail threatening to lynch him for the murder of Anna Koskon, 7, whose abused body was found on a road near here.

Consternation Is Felt In Tehran

LONDON, July 19.—The American and European colonies are in a state of consternation at Tsheran, the Persian capital following the death of Major Imbrie, United States vice consul as a result of wounds sustained at the hands of a mob which beat him to death. Another American is seriously wounded in a hospital, according to the Evening News, which lacks full particulars of the affair.

NOTHING DOING

PORT ARTHUR, Texas, July 19.—It was a busy day at the city hall. Acting Mayor Wiley looked at his watch and found it had stopped. He strolled down to the city commission room and looked at the clock. It had stopped several hours earlier. On top of that, there was nothing for the commissioners to do. So the acting mayor wound his watch and went back to his office. Ho hum.

THE WEATHER

East Texas—Sunday partly cloudy, probably thundershowers in northwest.

Henderson Scene Of Raiding Band; Women Frightened

CORSICANA, July 19.—Several members of the sheriff's office from Corsicana went to Henderson county late Friday to investigate reports of a raid by a band of white men upon a pleasure camp at Mud Spring on the Trinity.

The camping party composed of several families from the Chatfield community reported that a band of men mounted on horses crossed the river and bore down on their camp firing revolvers and rifles. The raiders forced the women of the party to cook a meal for them. Nearby residents who heard the shots came to the rescue while the gang was eating and drove the marauders back across the river.

Latimer County Fears Threats of Disturbance

WILBURTON, Okla., July 19.—Latimer county officials were posting guards at the Hailey-Ola Coal Company mine and the Eastern Coal and Mining Company near here today as precaution against a threat by union workers to force nonunion workmen to leave the pits.

Both mines have been operating upon a nonunion wage scale for more than a month after several months of idleness due to a wage controversy between operators and miners in this section of the State.

Action was taken by Sheriff Austin Parks of Latimer county following the closing of the Kala-Inla mine near Hartshorne yesterday when 200 armed union workers compelled twenty nonunion mine workers to leave the pits. There wos no disorder and no arrests.

The raiding forces, chiefly from an adjacent mine settlement, went to the pit in a body and asked the mine superintendent to discharge the nonunion workmen. Upon his refusal the raiders disarmed the mine guards and sent word to the workers to stop work. The workers, about twenty in number, who were cleaning out the mine preparatory to reopening, complied without resistance.

Leaders of the raiding forces explained their attack was not directed against the nonunion workmen, but as a protest against the 1917 wage scale which is considerably below the terms agreed upon at the Kansas City meeting several months ago. Differences in the union rate and the prevailing open shop rate amount to about 25c a ton, it was stated.

The Oklahoma coal fields have been virtually at a standstill since the first of the year pending settlement of the wage dispute and many miners are in desperate financial straits.

Several of the mines inthis section have been cleaned out preparatory to resumption of coal digging, in anticipation of the wage dispute settlement which is still pending.

Non union mine operators were silent today relative to possible opening of their mines this season in view of the Kala-Inla incident.

INTEREST PLAYING OUT

GAINESVILLE, Texas, July 19.—Because of poor attendance, the remaining games on the local club's schedule may be abandoned, owners of the team have indicated. Gate receipts have not been sufficient to pay expenses, let alone making any profit.

COLONEL R.C.DUFF STATES THAT HE'S READY TO START

The Texas Railroad Commission has requested the Interstate Commerce Commission to approve the proposed Beaumont to Waco railroad through this section of Texas. This is according to an announcement made by Col. R. C. Duff, promoter of the new line.

Colonel Duff has stated that he is ready to begin construction of the road as soon as authority is granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Action of the Texas body, it is thought, will make approval of the I. C. C. very probable.

Should this be the case, the chances are that before the year is up the actual construction of the road will be under way.

The plans for the new road contemplate using the road now in use between Weldon and Livingston and the construction of new road totaling about 200 miles.

U. S. BATTLESHIP REQUESTED FOR PROTECTION IN BRAZIL

BUENOS AIRES, July 19.—Intervention of foreign powers in Brazil to protect the rights of their nationalists was discussed by the Argenitne press today.

Italy and other European nations are expected to make an immediate gesture of protest against the inability of the Government at Rio de Janeiro to give assurance that the rights of foreigners will be maintained.

The request that a United States warship be sent to Santos to protect American property and maintain American rights, led to anticipation of similar action by other nations.

PRISONER IS POLITICIAN

HOUSTON, Texas, July 19.—One of the most interested persons in local politics is Jack Warran, held in jail in connection with the fire which destroyed a house here burning two persons to death. Although Warran wont have a vote, he is displaying a keen interest in the Harris county political situation. Warran declares officials are too busy with politics to pay any attention to him.

Wheeler planned to make a statement about noon today announcing his acceptances and explaining his reasons for the decision to run with La Follette.

Later—In a formal acceptance of the vice presidential nomination Wheeler declared that although he was a democrat, he was not "a Wall street democrat," and would not support candidates with a "dollar sign on them."

Elliott In Second Place In Tournament Held At Palestine

Hardy Eubanks, President of the Mexia Rotary club and J. W. Elliott, Secretary, returned Friday from Palestine where they had a great day with the Rotarians of several cities in that part of the State. They went by auto through Fairfield, reaching Palestine about 9 o'clock Thursday morning. In a short while the Jackson brothers and their families of Corsicana arrived and Messrs. Eubanks and Elliott went with them to the Country club and played some golf. They had luncheon with them, the ladies having carried a splendid picnic feed, following which more golf was the order of the hour. About noon a large delegation of Rotarians arrived from Longview. These and others, as well as Palestine Rotarians gathered at the golf club and at 3:30 the tournament begun. The contest was won by L. D. Kelley of Longview with Mr. Elliott a close second. Mr. Elliott might have beaten him, he admits himself, had he known that he even had chance. He was surprised when the decision was announced. Mr. Eubanks had an off day and lost. The golf course there is reported to be one of the best in the State, with natural hazards, 9 holes and 2843 yards. The club house is magnificent, according to the Mexia men present Thursday.

In the evening, a program was given by Palestine Rotarians, lasting an hour and a half, including addresses, music, solo dances and other features. Following this appreciated event, dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

Mr. Eubanks and Mr. Elliott returned the next morning.

Pitched Battle Breaks Session

ATHENS, July 19.—Ambulances were summoned to the Chamber of Deputies this morning as all night session broke up in a pitched battle in which an ex-minister, an admiral and a deputy were seriously wounded and a score of deputies badly beaten. Denunciation of the government by all opposing froces started the most of the rioting.

UNDISPUTED TITLE

EL PASO, Texas, July 19.—The "meanest man" title goes to the passenger on a street car here who struck a 13 year old Mexican youth over the fingers while the latter was "hooking" a ride on the car, causing him to fall to the pavement. The boy suffered a fractured skull.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Gidden have returned from a brief trip to Palestine. Those making the trip to counties East of here are growing anxious to see the completion of Freeston county's road building program which will give Mexia an outlet across the Trinity river which will bring hundreds of visitors here each week.

Government Now Demands Amends For Violent Act

WASHINGTON, July 19.—The government is prepared to take vigorous action to secure amends for the killing of Robert Imbrie at Tehran by a fanatical mob.

TEHRAN, Persia, July 19.—Maor Robert W. Imbrie, American vice consul, was beaten to death by a native mob here Thursday. The Persians resented an attempt by Major Imbrie to photograph a so-called "magic fountain," of which the natives stand in awe.

An American who was with the consul was severely wounded and is in a hospital.

Robert Whitney Imbrie was born in Washington, D. C., April 23, 1884 and was graduated from George Washington University in 1905. He was engaged in the practice of law 1909-15. He volunteered in the French army in 1915 and served until 1917. Appointed vice consul at Petrograd, Aug. 24, 1917, he later was assigned as vice consul at Viborg, Dec. 22, 1919. He was sent to Constantinople as vice consul Oct. 13, 1920.

Major Imbrie was married less than two years ago to Miss Katherine Gillespie of New Rochelle, N. Y., when she was directing the Near East Relief orphanage in the former Turkish capital.

The murder of Major Imbrie occurred at 5 p. m. Friday and was perpetrated by a mob made fanatical by the recent agitation against foreigners.

Dog Tags Arrive For Citizens Who Want Their Dogs

Dr. W. R. Hodges, city health officer, states that the dog tags required in the new ordinance designed to save citizens from being bitten by canines infected with rabies, have arrived and that those complying with the ordinance as to the vaccination of dogs, may receive them by calling at the city hall.

Rev. P. D. Tucker Is Friend Of Mexia And Of The News

Rev. P. D. Tucker, Chaplain at Castle Heights School, Lebanon, Tenn., formerly pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church of this city, was a recent visitor here in connection with his summer duties with the institution which has several students enrolled from Mexia. He spoke most highly of the Mexia Daily News saying that he had heard the Mexia newspaper praised highly on numerous occasions outside of Mexia as one of the best daily newspapers in Texas, especially calling attention to its ideals reflected in its editorial columns. He spoke in this manner before the Mexia Lions club upon his trip here a few weeks ago, all of which The News and friends of the News deeply appreciate. Rev. Tucker never loses an opportunity to speak favorably of the city and community where he has so many strong friends.

MEXIA C. OF C. ARRANGES FOR JAMIE HERON TO SPEAK HERE

Through the courtesy of the Waco Drug Company, and the efforts of Rotarian Val Horn, A. Hardy Eubanks and Jere Cason, President and Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Jamie Heron noted author and humorist will speak here Friday night at 8 o'clock. Mr. Heron spoke here before the Rotary club and at night at the high school auditorium last winter and none could sing his praises too loudly. The meeting will be held in the street, probably in front of the Hurdleston Hotel, there will be no admission charged and it is hoped that the public at large will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing this noted speaker.

Jamie Heron is a champion of economic and local justice, an ambassador for the practical application of the Golden Rule in business. He is a humorist, but he embodies so much more than merely humor in his lectures that the story would be but half told if nothing were added.

He is called the "Business Man's Poet" and many bits of his own viril verse are woven into his address.

For the past five years he has been studying the problems of the business man and how communities grow and has found that better business is built by building better men, and communities grow by united effort under the leadership of the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary club, Lions club and like organizations.

Here's How It Happened

The Inside Story of the National Democratic Convention.

By A. GARLAND ADAIR
Managing Editor of The Mexia Daily News

RELIGIOUS ISSUE

William Jennings Bryan was seated on the platform all during the fight by the minority plank leaders both during the League of Nations discussion and that on what was commonly spoken of as the Klan plank of the majority report.

After these debates had proceeded for three and a half hours, with the minority speakers receiving ovation after ovation, William Jennings Bryan the most beloved and feared statesman and counsellor in America, came to the front. The climax of the bitter debate came with his appearance, at the outset of his wonderful address. The galleries had been worked up to such a pitch against him by the preceding speakers that it was really surprising that he was able to say a word. Applause had been given friends of the minority report and jeers, curses, profanity, obscene language of the most vulgar type, hisses and boos, threats and abuse were hurled at Mr. Bryan, who like Stonewall Jackson stood his ground, bowed politely, smiled at times and at others hurled back in choice but cutting reportoire the onslaught from the thousands of Bowery folk and others who had crowded their way through willing lines of policemen to places within the galleries. Bryan is at his best when he has his enemies in one group and it is a pretty safe opinion that America has never produced an orator who could have been heard under similar conditions on any subject as long as he was heard. The Chairman, Mr. Walsh was eminently fair. He did his best to quiet the hoodlum masses but could not, without clearing the galleries and any attempt to clear the galleries might have been accompanied by bloodshed, so intolerant was the crowd that was fighting against the majority report.

Senator Walsh said, "Mr. Cummings yields twenty-five minutes to that revered Democrat, the Hon. William Jennings Bryan from Florida."

A voice, "The head ofthe party, Mr. Bryan."

But the insolence of the galleries soon indicated that they were not in sympathy with Mr. Walsh's fine introduction of the grand old commoner, who feeble and with a chronic ailment that will no doubt soon carry him to the Prince of Peace, began speaking, pleading for party harmony.

"Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen, members of this convention. It is now twenty-eight years since Democratic conventions became gracious enough to invite me and patient enough to listen to me, and I have not words in which to express my gratitude for the love and loyalty of millions of Democrats who have been my co-laborers for more than a quarter of a century. ((Applause.)

I have spoken to you on many themes, never on themes more important than today; and since they take applause out of my time, and since I am speaking to your hearts and heads and not to your hands, keep still and let me speak to you. (Cries, "We'll do it.")

"I have only a short time in which to lay before you arguments that seem to me to be pertinent to this occasion, when we are about to decide not only the line of our campaign this Fall, but in which we may affect larger things than parties.

Let's understand each other. Let's eliminate the things that are not in this issue and come down to the three words, that these, our good friends, as honest, as patriotic and as anxious for party welfare of the party, take out of the language and exalt above any other three words that will be used in this campaign. Note, my friends, that they take our report, every word of it, and note that we offered to take every word of their report by three. We said: "Strike out three words and there will be no objection." But three words were more to them than the welfare of a party in a great campaign. (Applause.)

"You have listened to the applause when we have read to you the best Democratic platform that was ever written, the noblest principles that have ever been written into a platform. We have three pleas pathetic for people in distress, but none of our principles, none of our pleas stirred the hearts of these men like the words 'Ku Klux Klan.'"

(Long and contined hisses, booes and jeers.)

The Chairman raped for order.

The Chairman, "The delegates of the convention will preserve order. I shall have to call Mr. Bryan when the time has expired unless you permit him to proceed."

Mr. Bryan, "I call you to witness. I call you to witness that these men never took the standards of their states and marched when we appealed on grand principles. It was only when they said the Ku Klux Klan, that's the only thing. (Hisses, boos and jeers.)

The Chairman, "The officers will preserve order."

A voice, "Clear the galleries of the hoodlums."

The Chairman, "Or these proceedings will cease. Please let us have order here."

Mr. Bryan, "Citizens of New York, you show your appreciation of the honor we did you in holding our convention here." (A confusion of cries from the floor with the Chairman rapping for order.)

The Chairman, "If the speaker is again interrupted by the galleries, they will be cleared. (Applause and some hisses.) I shall order this in the name of the delegates of the convention for whom I speak. I warn the delegates that this speaker is to continue and that without interruption from them."

Mr. Bryan, "Let me place before you the five reasons which I submit to your judgments and your conscience First, this plank, these three words, are not necessary.

A voice, "Yes they are."

Other voices, "Put him out! Put him out!"

Mr. Bryan, "There is not a state in the Union where any body whose rights are denied cannot go and find redress. (Applause.) Not a state in the Union; and the Democratic party in its platform, the part of it on which we all agree, in words as strong as can be written, with emphasis as strong as can be employed, puts all the strength of the party back of every right, especially back of the right of religious liberty for which we stand (Applause,) as well as those who call us cowards because we do not take three words with which they seek to conjure.

"The Catholic church, with its legacy of martyred blood and with all the testimony of its missionaries who went into every line, does not need a great party to protect it. (Cheers and applause.)

"The Jews do not need this resolution. They have Moses. They have Elijah. They have Elisha, who was able to draw back the curtain and show upon the mountain tops an invisible host greater than a thousand Ku Klux Klans. And both the Catholic church and the Jewish faith, have their great characters today who plead for respect for them, and whose pleading is not in vain."

Mr. Bryan referred to the address by Bainbridge Colby, in favor of the minority report, his successor as Secretary of State under the Wilson administration. He said that "Mr. Colby tells you that this is a transient organization; that it will soon die. If that be true, then, really, my friends, the motto of the minority ought to be 'Hurry up, if you would see George, he is nearly gone.' (Laughter.)

"My friends, one objection, that I have in making this issue the paramount issue of this campaign is that I am not willing to lift up the dying embers and start a prairie fire and carry this Klan into every Congressional district of the United States. (Cheers and applause.)

"My third reason is that we have no moral right to let them divert us from as great a mission as our party ever had. (Applause.)

"They say we are cowards, my friends, it requires more courage to fight the Republican party than it does to fight a Ku Klux Klan. Here we have farmers driven into bankruptcy, a million driven from the farms in a single year. We find monopoly spreading. We find nearly every line of great industry in the control of gigantic combinations of capital. And while we have distress in this country that cries aloud for relief and while we have a war torn world across the Atlantic that needs our help and our guidance, these minority men say that we lack courage if we do a big work instead of starting out on a little hunt for something which is nearly dead and which will soon pass away. (Applause.)

"You may call me a coward if you will, but there is nothing in my life to justify the charge. ((Applause.) But my friends, I had rather have the anathemas of these misguided Democrats than have to answer on Judgment day for a duty disregarded and a trust deserted. Anybody can fight the Ku Klux Klan, but only the Democratic party can stand between the common people and their opppressors in this land. (Applause.)

"Then, I am not wiling to bring discord into my party.

"The Democratic party is united as never before on all economic issues. Now that we are as one, these people tell us that we must turn aside from these things and divide our party with a religious issue and cease to be a great political party. Why, they tell us that if we do not do, the Democratic party will lose a great number. My friends, if the Democratic party will lose a considerable number for being what it has been, how many will it lose if it tries to be what it has never been. The Democratic party has never been a religious organization. The Democratic party has never taken the side of one church against another. The Democratic party must remain true. It cannot surrender its right to exist and the mission that was given it in the days of Jerresson. that it remained trueto in the days of Jackson and to which it was still loyal in the days of Woodrow Wilson."

(Mr. Bryan saved for the last what he considered his greatest argument. Read it in Monday's issue.)

things of interest—we managed to "do" New York City.

Mr. Adair has so creditably given the details of the Democratic convention that I would not dare to trespass in this field, but perhaps a few of my own impressions will not be amiss.

Not Tiresome, Yes!

I have been asked if it was not tiresome sitting through the long sessions. It was no more tiresome than is a three-ring circus; and as you know Ringling Brothers and Barunm and Bailey open their Spring shows in Madison Square Garden. The large auditorium was beautifully decorated in American flags and bunting; and there were many well-dressed women there to add to the colorful panorama. One woman delegate proved herself oblivious to her surroundings by calmly sitting under a Japanese umbrella during the heat of the day. The spectators proved that one could begin on time if the delegates had only been seated; as it was Senator Walsh, the permanent chairman, only by repeated hammerings of his gavel and crying "Let the delegates be seated," and with the aid of some five hundred New York policemen managed to begin no earlier than an hour late. The band, even if it did cost the convention five hundred dollars a day, added much to my enjoyment. The music was always appropriate; as when the lady who had been made chairman of the Credentials Committee stepped forward to make her report, the band played; "The Old Gray Mare Aint What She Used to Be," and the delegates and galleries cheered this heretofore unusual sight of a woman as chairman of an important committee making her report at a political convention. When Senator Robinson of Arkansas was nominated the band struck up the tune of "Arkansas Traveler;" and "Beautiful Ohio" when Cox was nominated. It occurred to me that it might have played "How Dry I Am" when they had the Smith demonstration, instead "The Sidewalks of New York" was the favorite piece. I think the most fitting piece played was "Glory, Glory, Halleluiah" when Davis at last won the nomination.

Party Praises Peace Plan of L. of N.

I enjoyed Newton D. Baker's nominating speech for Mr. Cox. It was really a defense of the League of Nations. In New York there has been erected a monument to peace, on top of which is a light, symbolizing the eternal light to perpetuate the peace the soldiers fought for in France. This sentiment was clearly reflected in the outbursts of cheering whenever the League of Nations was mentioned in the convention. That was the nearest approach to harmony the delegates displayed except one other point. They unanimously agred that during the Republican administration the country had gone to the bow wows and only the Democratic party could save it.

It was a surprise to me to hear the applause which greeted many of the ministers who invoked God's blessings upon the convention when they were introduced, and frequently their prayers were applauded.

Bryan—Grand Old Man.

The grand old man of the Democratic party, William Jennings Bryan, was there in all his glory. While his enemies may cordially hate him they must admit, it seems to me, that he was more of a leader than any of other men present. The party platform is generally regarded as a triumph for Mr. Bryan. When Mr. Cummings came before the convention and told of the struggles the Resolutions Committee had had, and how, after a night fraught with difficulties and almost party dissention, Mr. Bryan in the early morning hours led the committee in prayer for Divine guidance—it made a profound impression upon the audience.

Will Rogers said that the wars between France and Germany, the earthquakes in Japan, and the typhoons in Korea were natural periodical phenomena, but the United States was the only country to bring a calamity on itself every four years. If each convention could be held in a city so fraught with interest as New York it would not be a calamity.

Skyline of New York.

The skyline of New York is probably the city's greatest sight. Blasco Ibanez said that the sight of it made him proud to realize that he was a man when he saw what the brain and hand of man had done on Manhattan Island. An excellent view is obtained from the Woolworth Tower. An endless variety of shops on Fifth Avenue is an interesting sight. The Bronx Zoo with its collection of animals, birds and reptiles is the largest in the world. They can be seen in surroundings similar to their natural habitat. The Aquarium at Battery Park displays live fish from all waters in plate glass tanks. From Battery Park one may go by boat to Bedloe's Island where stands the Statue of Liberty. The statue is much larger when viewed close at hand than is dreamed of by reading about it. As is known to most everyone, it is a gift raised by popular subscription from the people of France. The Metropolitan Art Museum bewilders one by its immensity. The original paintings and works of sculpture fill the art lover with awe. The armor collection calls back the days of "When Knighthood Was in Flower." The Sub-Treasury building, just across the street from the New York Stock Exchange, is another interesting place. It was here that Washington took the oath of office as President of the United States in 1789.

Kaleidoscope Bowery.

The Bowery is a kaleidoscope of push carts, street vendors of all kinds, cheap looking shows, boys playing cards and throwing dice in the doorways and on the sidewalks, children playing in the streets, people leaning out the windows for a breath of air, and from every window a line of clothes. (It must be "Blue Monday" every day.) And little babies being rocked to sleep in hamocks swinging on fire escapes. We were told that one-seventh of the population of New York lives in this district, an area of one square mile, and that sixty-five anguages are taught in the school. The Methodist Church built, as one of the first fruits of the Centenary, a building in this district called The Church of all Nations. It is five stories high, contains kindergarten, club and class rooms, has a chapel for worship, and seeks to meet the needs of these people. It is built on the site where the first Methodist Missionary Society in America was organized. Another interesting building in lower New York is John Street Methodist Church, which is the first Methodist Church building in America. It was first built in 1768. There is a clock in it over 157 years old given by Charles Wesley, and a chair brought from England by Francis Asbury over 150 years ago.

Trinity Cathedral.

The Trinity Cathedral is a noted place, also the old church yard on either side of the building. The oldest grave is dated 1681. Alexander Hamilton and Robert Fulton are buried here. The Little Church Around the Corner is no doubt the most famous and best beloved church in America. It has an air of prayer within its walls that is inescapable. There is a placard in the entrance of the church asking you to not leave the building without offering a prayer for yourself, for the church and those who labor in the church.

I have often thought that our protestant churches should be open more often to the public and be made attractive to all people. In our trip this summer we did not read or hear of any Protestant churches being open to the public and containing treasures of a sacred nature, but everywhere we went churches of other denominations were open.

Philadelphia Interesting.

There were three places of interest to us in Philadelphia, Independence Hall with its historical treasures and paintings by Ferris depicting the history of the United States from 1492 to 1812; the Curtis Publishing Building with its mural decorations by Maxfield Parrish and "The Dream Garden" the largest piece of mosaic work in the world, composed of over one million pieces of specially fired glass; and Temple Baptist Church and Temple University, where we heard Dr. Russel H. Conwell preach. He has been pastor of this church for over forty years. Having heard him deliver his famous lecture, "Acres of Diamonds," I was anxious to hear him preach and to see the University he has built from the proceeds of his lecture. Truly, he has best exemplified the truth of his lecture in that he has found the diamonds of happiness in his own back-yard.

Washington Beautiful.

We voted Washington to be the most beautiful place we visited. The beautiful trees, grass and flowers were most restful after the brick and mortar of New York, the grime of Philadelphia, and even the magnificent spectacle of the ocean at Atlantic City. I think I most enjoyed seeing Washington's Monument. Like many other things in life, you can not escape this monument; wherever you go in Washington you can turn and see it rising high toward the dome of heaven.

The most beautiful building we saw was the Congressional Library. It is a marble palace, and it is no wonder that Lord Northcliffe said it surpassed in beauty any other building in the world.

In striking contrast to New York, we were made to feel that Washington was ours to enjoy. And through the kindness of Mr. Luther Johnson, Congressman from this District, we were privileged to go through some of the rooms in the White House not open to the public in general, and to go over the President's yacht, the Mayflower.

The National Educational Association was in session the week we were in Washington. We heard Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt address this body. She made a strong plea for the League of Nations. In discussing the method used in teaching history—which always glorifies the warrior—she said that almost one hundred per cent of the heathen monuments were erected to religion, ninety per cent of ours to some phase of war. She suggested a complete change in the method of writing and teaching history, and predicted this would result in a Secretary of International Friendship rather than a Secretary of War. The Hawaiian teachers decorated each one with lei made by their school children. There were delegates from fifty-two states and territories at this convention. I thought it was quite a coincidence that President Coolidge addressed the teachers on the Fourth of July on his fifty-second birthday. He was presented with a beautiful floral basket as a token of esteem. I think the most striking statements he made were: "American ideals do not require to be changed so much as they require to be understood and applied. It is no longer so solicitous to catalogue the powers which it possesses, as to direct those great forces for the spiritual advancement of the American people at home and the discharge of our obligations to humanity abroad."

Washington Cathedral.

The Washington Cathedral, where Woodrow Wilson is buried, will be the Westminster of America when completed. The estimated cost is $10,000,000. It is a memorial to the founders of the Republic, and to its preservers, especially those of the great war. It is located on the same area as the Temple enclosure at Jerusalem, and is situated at the same elevation above Washington as the Temple is above Jerusalem. The Apse or Sanctuary, one-twelfth of the whole building, is completed. In the Baptistry is the Jordan Font, which is lined with stones brought from the Damascus Ford of the River Jordan. In the Crypt, Bethlehem Chapel, Wilson is buried. Above the door of the Chapel are these words: "He was a man of peace." While they were written of Christ they are suited to the principles for which Wilson worked, and in the final completion of the unfinshed task in the erection of this Cathedral I saw symbolized the consummation of those ideals for which Wilson stood.

We spent one day in making a pilgrimage to Mount Vernon—our Nation's sacred shrine. An average of 1,000 people a day visit Washington's home to see the intimate treasures in this beautiful place. From Mount Vernon we went to Arlington Cemetery, and visited Robert E. Lee's home. A raised flower bed tells the tragic history of Arlington Cemetery: "Unknown 4,713, Known 29,333." This is the Grim Reaper's toll of the battlefield that lies buried in this cemetery. Over four thousand soldiers of the last war lie here. The tomb of the Unknown Soldier is just in front of the magnificent Ampitheatre.

Regardless of party differences should it not be the aim of all Americans to prevent the ravages of war and make it unnecessary to fill another Arlington with young Americans sacrificed upon the altar of Mars?

AN EDUCATIONAL VICTORY FOR TEXAS

"The Texas Presbyterian Educational Movement Reports Texas Presbyterian Educational Victory"

This was the announcement made Tuesday, July 15, to the 43,000 Southern Presbyterians of Texas by the State Executive Committee. It was an educational victory. The securing of $1,350,000 in pledges for Southern Presbyterian schools and colleges in Texas marks a new era for Christian education in Texas. It means a forward step by the forces of that church for this great cause, undergirdling as it does every phase of church life and activity. It means the institutions in Texas under the control of this church are no longer to be hampered by debt and worry. They are free to take their place with the schools and colleges of other denominations and have a part in the great educational revival now going on in Texas.

For nearly a year now the campaign forces working under the direction of the Committee of Christian Education, of which Dr. Henry H. Sweets is executive secretary, have been busy in Texas. Before the Synod formally authorized the campaigns and officially fixed the quota on September 11, 1923, much preliminary work had been done. Church lists had been secured. Literature had been mailed out to many of the church officers and ministers. The campaign force was ready to begin as soon as the official order was issued.

On September 11 Synod met at the First Presbyterian Church in Dallas. The reports of the committee on schools and colleges was read and unanimously adopted. The report recommended $1,350,000 be secured for our institutions.

The work was on. For months the canvass was conducted. In the smaller churches the field men worked among the congregations. In the larger churches the local members were organized and canvassed under the direction of the campaign forces.

Finally in June the State Executive Committee met and learned that about $250,000 was yet to be secured. Every effort was made to close up the work not later than July 15.

It has been done.

And the First Presbyterian church of Mexia had a real part in this victory, which must be extremely gratifying to the membership and to the entirecommunity.

MANUAL LABOR FOUNDATION OF SERVICE

The Mexia School Board, Superintendent Puckett, Mr. Evans and the entire faculty, as well as patrons and pupils of the Mexia High School are to be congratulated most generously because of the improved standing and increased service of the manual labor department of the Mexia High School.

Life is divided into many fields of service. The best schools are the ones that meet this demand and most acceptably prepare the rising generation for the various trades, pursuits, professions and callings of the world.

Some of these require dexterity, tact, genius and all of them require head work and labor. At the very foundation of all attempt and accomplishment is manual labor.

The Domestic Science department of school life, too, really a part of Manual Labor, is one of the most modern and serviceable contributions to civilization. "The girl in the kitchen" may be a drudge or she may be a queen. It all depends upon processes preparatory, upon her motive, her ideals and her ruling purposes.

Limestone County boys and girls should be trained to love home, to honor industry and to put a true estimate on neatness and taste, on economy and common sense, to respect everybody who believes in self support and to strive themselves to prepare to be self sustaining, whether dressed in satin or calico, in broadcloth or overalls; whether seated at the table or serving those seated at it and who bear in mind always that the real measure of individual worth is as God estimates it and as common sense of society judges it.

Call Issued For County Convention

By virtue of authority vested in me as Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of Limestone county, I hereby call upon each precinct chairman to hold conventions on Saturday, July 26, to elect delegates to the county convention, which will meet Saturday, August 2, at 10:00 A. M. at Groesbeck, Texas.

E. A. ALLEN, Chairman,
Democratic Executive Committee,
Limestone County, Texas.

FAMOUS FRENCH RECIPES

Bistokes with Sour Cream

PARIS, July 15.—"La Maisonnette," or the Russian Comedians' Home, in the little Rue Monthabor, is a favorite rendezvous for American visitors. One of the specialties is bistokes with sour cream, which is served just after the soup.

Chop until fine one pound of lean beef and mix with a large spoonful of butter. Season well with salt, pepper and a little graetd nutmeg. Divide into equal portions and form into small filets. Flour lightly and brown in butter. Arrange upon the serving dish and keep in a warm place.

Into the frying-pan from which the meat was removed pour a glass of sour cream and let simmer for five minutes. Pour this sauce over the bistokes and arrange upon each one rondelles of onions fried in butter. Garnish with French fried potatoes.

For The Woman Who Would Be First

From Paris itself -----advance styles of the new season

Many follow—but to lead is the privilege of few.

And to you smart women who prize that privilege these newest of the new frocks will appeal.

Direct to us from the petite Peggy Paige of Paris they come—each an advance-season style—each a charming interpretation of the new mode for autumn—the first to be shown in this city.

(We suggest, by the way, that you turn to the pages of the current issue of Vogue, where you'll find these self-same dress pictured!)

And most bewitching they are—youthful, carefree, smartly slim, and with that piquancy of style which Peggy Paige alone knows how to produce. These frocks—new in every detail—will give that poise and self-assurance that comes with the knowledgethat you are correctly clad.

You will find, too, just the frock you need to bring your wardrobe up-to-date—such a frock as only the few are wearing.

THE DRESSES

HERMIONE—a frock of the new lustre crepe satin, decreed by Paris as the smartest fabric for early fall, embroidered chiffon godets at each side of the skirt.

FREDAINE—is fashioned of "Peggy Crepe." It is beaded and embroidered in copper, green and brown.

ROSEMONDE—Tiny trailing blossoms in the softest of colorings form the embroidery to this chic frock of Canton crepe, which fashion has once again made smart.

EMERAUDE—a deep gold embroidered V—of a Chinese-like blue-green Crepe de Chine is set into the front of the bodice. Loose, open cuffs of the same blue-green, set on to tight sleeves at the elbows, afford a delightful contrast.

BERENICE—a straight lined frock of Canton crepe. In black the dress is embroidered in Copenhagen blue and silver; in brown, it is embroidered in tan and dull gold.

THE MORNING FROCK; DON'T BE SLOPPY GIRLS

By HEDDA HOYT
(Fashion Editor of The United Press)
(Written for United Press)

NEW YORK, July 19.—Women of large cities are apt to know very little about morning frocks. Most of them slump their apartments in last season's dinner gown, covered by a gingham apron.

No woman looks well in the early morning cleaning up the results of last night's bridge party, in a dilapidated frock with decollette lines and minus portions of its beadwork.

How much better a swee little gingham house-dress looks about the home. One can choose many lovely light colors which can't be worn discriminately on the streets.

Pre-shrunk linens, ginghams, flowered fretonnes, voiles and cotton crepes are all materials suitable for house-frock, the newest of which are made on dress lines rather than apron lines. Many women make their house dresses themselves, using a simple straight-lined patern which requires but two side-seams. Necks are cut rounding and sleeves are short and a sash belt is placed at a low waistline. Pockets may be added on the sides and white organdy or line collars tend to take away the apron appearance.

It is nice to have at least four of these dresses, choosing each dress of a different shade. Yellow and white checkd gingham is always pretty about the house and gets away from the popular pink or blue color-scheme which most women seem to prefer. Brown and white checked gingham is also neat in appearance and holds its color well in laundering.

The house-dress of today is not supposed to look like a house-dress. It has the fit and lines of the street frock. One can run to the corner grocery without creating any excitement whatsoever in the modern working frock.

The woman who does no heavy work will find voiles in pastel shades lovely for house-wear, as they are cool and launder well. Cotton crepe is also a good material, as it is easily ironed, or may be worn without ironing.

Little aprons of cretonne may be worn over the house-frock of plain colored material. The rubberized aprons which come in colors are also lovely for housework. One may match the apron with the frock, if one so desires.

New Sports Coat

At a nearby resort I saw, for the first time, cretonne used as a sports coat. Over a white silk skirt and white silk blouse a colorful cretonne jacquette was worn. There were no sleeves in this jacquette and it was bound about the edges in plain color. The jacquette opened up the front with lapels as a neck finish.

Nothing could be more suitable for a traveling dress than a smart cape-back dress with long sleeves. The cape-dress combination will be found cooler than the suit for summer travel and, at the same time, has the tailored appearance demanded for travel. Small checked materials are admirable for traveling purposes as they do not show the dust as do plain dark colors.

Sweaters are passe, and in their place are sweater-blouses, which are made of cotton or silk material and fashioned on the slip-on sweater lines. These are much cooler than wool sweaters, launder well and fit into the niche left vacant by the ousted sweater.

With the summery frocks are carried little flowered taffeta handbags with the design of the flowers outlined in steel beads. These are gathered about the top with a narrow grosgraine ribbon.

Several younger girls appeared last week with their wristwatches attached to white grosgraine ribbon instead of the popular gray or black ribbon. For white frocks the white ribbon about the wrist seems quite appropriate.

Large straw hats of inexpensive type may be made very lovely by facing them with flowered chiffon on the under brim.

NEW OLYMPIC REGULATIONS HURT UNITED STATES

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, July 17.—The regulation limiting number of contestants in each Olympic event to four, and requiring the entries to be made in advance, worked out decidedly to the disadvantage of this country.

Take the case of the broad jump, for instance.

Our coaches were forced to guess which of a number of excellent jumpers to enter in this event. They finally decided upon DeHart Hubbard, negro star from Michigan; Ned Gourdin, another negro; Comins, the intercollegiate champion, and Rose of the Pacific Coast.

The day before the broad jump was contested at Paris, Bob LeGendre, former Georgetown University star, who hails from Newark, went out in the pentathlon and jumped 25 feet 6 inches, a new world's record. It was too late to enter him in the broad jump.

As it turned out, Hubbard's leap of 24 feet 6 inches, a whole foot less than that of LeGendre, was enough to win. Hubbard hurt himself in making this jump, but no one else exceeded it. Ned Gourdin took second, but Comins was injured and Rose failed to qualify.

Had it been possible to put our best strength into the event, the United States would have scored at least four more points.

Something of the same sort happened in the 400 meters. Stevenson, the former Tiger quarter-miler, who later ran at Oxford, was not placed on the American entry list for this event. He was, however, taken along as a possible member of the 1,600-meter relay team.

When the team got to Paris, Mill started running like a house afire. He took to the Paris air and the track at Colombes Stadium and ran rings around all the Americans with whom he trained. He was reeling off 400 meter trials in record time, but it was too late to get him in the event.

Because of his last year in defying the edict of the A. A. U. and going to Paris to compete in the French games, where he ran exhibitions, Charley Paddock was the most popular of our athletes with the French public at the Colombes Stadium. They felt quite a little antagonism towards the American team, a feeling which was not entirely unreciprocated, and looked upon Paddock as somewhat of a renegade, and so favored him. This was most unjust to Charley, who had not only co-operated warmly with his coaches and team-mates, but has made friends with Loren Murchison. The two used to be bitter enemies.

Paddock's reputation as a world-beating sprinter had spread to England, and his individuality attracted attention among the British, so much so that the Prince of Wales called Charley over to the box of honor and had a chat with him.

Paddock was not an altogehter enviable figure, as he was pointed out as the "fastest human" and yet was constantly taking dust from his teammates and others.

MEN AND WOMEN IN NEWS OF THE DAY.

The French Chamber of Deputies has granted amnesty to ex-Premier Joseph Caillaux, one of the world's foremost financiers and politicians, who had been sentenced to two years imprisonment and banishment from Paris for his dealings with the Germans during the World War, which he opposed. For the first time the Newton Centre, Mass., Theological Institute has graduated a woman with a degree of Doctor of Divinity. She is Miss Grace Patton, of Newton Centre. Dr. Arthur T. Dodson, noted scientist of the Liverpool, Eng., University, has reached Washington to exchange views on tidal matters with the Department of Justice. Mrs. John L. Gardner, social leader of Boston and one of the most noted art collectors in America, is seriously ill at her Italian palace in the Fenway section of Boston.

PRINCE OF WALES GREAT DRAWING CARD

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, July 18.—If any promoter would ensure the success of his sporting event, let him persuade the popular Prince of Wales to come. Then all he need do is dust off the "S.R.O." signs.

There is something magnetic about the British heir apparent which draws folks like flies at a honey jar. He is a better drawing card than Babe Ruth, Jack Dempsey and Mary Pickford rolled into one.

The British-American polo matches are to be resumed at Meadow Brook this fall, for the first time since 1914. It's been so long since we had these matches that most folks seemed to have forgotten that polo, especially these international affairs, is the sport of kings and something to go to just to say you've been there.

The tickets which are expensive, weren't going like hot-cakes, or anything of the sort. So the United States Polo Association announced that the Prince of Wales would attend.

For the next few weeks the postmen groaned beneath the load of applications for tickets from all parts of the country. There was a deluge of letters each morning at the association's headquarters. Everyone and his wife—particularly his wife, perhaps—just had to go to see the polo this fall. Telephones jangled continuously with demands for reservations A few days ago the seat sale was thrown open to the public. And even though the prince's coming is somewhat uncertain, there are practically no seats left for the polo.

It's the same way with a fight. When Tex Rickard was flirting with a calendar, trying to pick the best date for the (maybe) Wills-Firpo fight, he bethought himself of nights that were unacceptable and days that wouldn't do. Then he read about the Prince of Wales' coming to this country, and the problem was solved. Tex selected Sept. 5, and immediately laid plans to persuade his royal highness to attend, knowing full well that if word got around that the prince was to be there, there would be no vacant seats.

The chances are that if the prince actually does see the fight, however, it will be in strictest incognito, accompanied by an announcement that he will not be there. Considering the unwieldiness of a big fight crowd at night, the authorities are not anxious to take a chance with the distinguished visitor's comfort.

It has always been a bit of mystery as to whether Wales was present at the Dempsey-Firpo fight—that never to be forgotten night at the Polo Grounds last summer. The report got around that "Lord Renfrew" had slipped down from Canada and was among those present. It was never confirmed. Sometimes Tex wouldn't deny it; sometimes he would.

The proposal has been made to mount the Prince of Wales and have him participate in some practice matches at Meadowbrook.

The prospect of seeing the heir to the British throne do one of his celebrated brodies from the back of a galloping nag is certainly an enticing one to the American sports lover. After, all, it seems only fair that the United States should see one fall in 15; aren't we cousins and all that sort of thing?

The young gentleman who seeks a situation isn't as likely to succeed as the young man who hustles for a job.

THERE'S ART IN BOBBING

It's no longer a question of snip, snip and it's off.

Particular women now demand that the hair which remains form a becoming frame for the face and gracefully outlined head.

That's where "art" comes in, for there are as many styles of bobs as there are bobbed haired girls and women. Each one is an individual problem of chin, eyes, nose and mouth.

Then there's the fashionable element — the smart touch which has always associated Paris with women's coiffures——

And the necessity of keeping the hair glossy, fluffy and clean.

Huge Engineering Project Completed By A. E. Humphreys

Friends of Colonel A. E. Humphreys here are receiving copies of last Sunday's Denver Rocky Mountain News which carries in its pictorial section a page of photographs of a huge engineering project conducted by the former Mexia oil magnate in the Rio Grande National Forest. The pictures portray wonderful development and the statement on the page says:

New Humphreys Mountain Dam.

The new Humphreys dam shown in the accompanying photographs is one of the finest examples of structural engineering in the state and is owned by Col. A. E. Humphreys of Denver. It is located on Goose creek in the Rio Grande National forest, 300 miles southwest of Denver and was completed last month at a cost of more than $300,000. It is estimated that the fall of water over the dam will generate 450 horsepower. Licenses have been obtained for development of this water power and the erection of transmission lines across the Rio Grande forest. It is being planned to utilize the power thus generated in operating the Fluorspar mines five miles below the dam.

Thousands of trout will be grown in a large lake which has been formed behind the dam. Colonel Humphreys will turn these fish into Goose creek each year. The high water mark of the lake is just a few feet below the Humphreys summer home in the San Juan mountains. Two smaller lakes formed in the same district will be used for the culture of trout in the various stages of their growth and a fourth lake formed by mountain springs will be used as a hatchery. Fresh water fish will be raised at Shrimp lake to provide food for the trout and will be kept at Hay Press lake until they reach a certain size, when they will be turned into the Humphreys lake and thence into Goose creek.

Carl A. Gould of Denver, engineer in charge of construction, drew up the plans and designs for the entire project. The concrete work was done by Chapman & Pridmore, contractors of Monte Vista, Colo.

Felix D. Robertson
The Common Sense Candidate for Governor

The "Common Sense Candidate." That is the title by which Felix D. Robertson, candidate for Governor, is known throughout the State. It came to him through his record as judge of the City Court of Dallas and later of Criminal District Court No. 1 of Dallas and was earned through his native Texas ability to see through the tangled problems of law to the common sense and the human justice in these problems as they were presented to him.

As a common sense candidate Felix D. Robertson is opposed to the army of boards, bureaus and commissions that give a few men fat salaries and fine titles, but increase the burdens of the taxpayers. He believes there are too many idle public employees with their feet on mahogany desks spending their time doing nothing but waiting for their swollen salaries.

"We have too much government; too many boards, bureaus and commissions; too much buck passing; too much theory; too many idle employees," he says.

When elected Governor Judge Robertson promises to sweep all this useless expense out of the state house at Austin.

Judge Robertson is an elder in the First Baptist church of Dallas. His reputation as a Sunday School lecturer extends throughout the State and he is regarded as one of the most inspired of speakers on religious subjects and the Protestant faith.

When he was City Judge the newspaper men of Dallas called him in all reverence of spirit, "the Praying Judge." This was because when often some erring youth or some slip of a girl confronted with ruin, was brought before him, he was not the unfeeling magistrate, but showed himself kindly in heart and ready with Christian advice. Often he would adjourn court and on his knees pray that such a one might be turned to the better life.

Himself a man who has made his way up by hard work, Judge Robertson sympathizes with the worker, whether in the field or in the shop.

He is a lifelong Democrat. He was born in McLennan county, his grandfather being General Jerome P. Robertson, commander in Hoods Brigade of the Confederate army. His father is Gen. Felix H. Robertson, who was a Brigadier General in Joe Wheeler's corps in the Confederate army. During the world war Judge Robertson was a major in the 132nd field artillery of the Thirty-Sixth Division.

Judge Robertson has been a lifelong prohibitionist, having been active in his fight against the liquor interests for more than twenty years, and an advocate of woman suffrage.

He believes in and stands on the following planks:

Better schools.	Better public roads.
Free textbooks.	Help for ex-service men.
Strict law enforcement.	Organized labor.
Prison system reform.	Homes for tenant farmers.

The Commonsense Candidate is a firm believer in rural schools, declaring there should be an apportionment of at least $15.00 per capita for pupils of the same.

The motto to which he has always adhered is: "In a democracy like Texas the children of the poor must have their chance."

FOR BETTER SCHOOLS

TO THE VOTERS OF LIMESTONE COUNTY:

Since my duties in the office have been so urgent, I may not be able to see you in person before the primary election, therefore, I take this means of soliciting your vote, for re-election to the office of county superintendent.

I have attempted to serve the county schools competently for the past four years. and I invite you to examine my record as your county superintendent before you fully decide as to how you will vote. Since I have been in office the enrollment in the rural schools for high school work has increased fifty per cent. 19 school houses and 4 teacherages have been built in the rural schools. Compare the following tables, notice progress as to length of school terms and better trained teachers:

LENGTH OF SCHOOL TERMS (WHITES)

	5 mo. & less	6 mo.	7 mo.	8 mo.	9 mo.
1920:	13	44	13	0	0
1924	0	10	37	20	1

WHITE TEACHERS CERTIFICATES

	2nd grade -	1st grade -	Permanent
1920:	73	61	12
1924:	45	91	24

No other county in the state pays the teachers promptly and without discount. We have had inquiries from many county superintendents asking about our plan. We feel we are on the map educationally and want to stay there.

The efficient execution of the educational affairs of this county requires a careful study of the conditions of each school. This takes much time and experience. We all know that any business could not be successful if firms changed managers every four years. Statistics show that the cities and towns which maintain the best school systems retain their superintendents much longer than four years. Is not the county's system of schools just as important and should not the future citizens of our county receive at least the consideration that the city children have? Surely one who has studied the county system could continue to make it progress. If elected, I expect to continue studying the work and to continue improving the educational standing of our county.

Trusting that you will allow me to "carry on" in the good work, For Better Schools, I am

Sincerely,
MRS. CORA FERGUSON
County Superintendent.

JEFFRIES WINS HIS THIRTEENTH GAME OF SEASON

By HECK

Backing Jefferies great pitching with errorless support that at times was of the most brilliant character the Gushers annexed the final game from the Austin Rangers at Nowlin Park Friday by the score of 2-0 and with shutout the brilliant Jeff ran his string of victories to threeen and he won his thirteenth game on Friday and Jeff has now passed all hoodos and jinxs and is now out after Gressett, the Marlin star, who has fifteen wins to his credit. Butler really won the game in the fourth when he drove a long home run over the right field fence and the score would have stayed that way but for the failure of either Gaither or Matlock to cover second on Banner's fine throw to get Fowlkes, the ball going to center and the skipper to third on the play from which he scored on Jones' single to right. The Rangers had but three men left on bases and but one reached second base. Dick Whitworth pitched a splendid game for the Rangers and should have won under ordinary conditions but his mates were helpless before Jeffries and Dick was forced to lose by a shutout score. Whitworth was unhittable in the pinches and fanned nine Gushers most of which came at a time when a hit meant a run.

Marlin is with us now for four games in three days, a double header being on the boards for today and I'll let you guess as to who does the pitching in either game—I don't know.

Cotton Gin Terrors Run Off In Game Played With Kirven

In a fast game of ball last Saturday, the Cotton Gin Terrors ran away with the long end of 18 to 2 score. The Gin boys made a race track out of the park in the first inning. This game was played at Kirven, and the Kirven team decided to take on the Terrors the following Friday.

In two games with Wortham the Cotton Gin team increased their percentage with two good wins. The first game being 5 to 3. The score of the second was 17 to 8.

Friday the Terrors went to Kirven to meet the Green Sox. The Sox won by 13 to 4. The Gin boys were on a vacation it seemed and could not hit the apple.

The lineup of the Cotton Gin team is as follows:

Henry Tisdale, third-base, manager.
Charles Meyer, second-base.
V. Gaines, shortstop.
Johnnie Tisdale, pitcher.
Mil Auld, catcher.
Wright, first-base.
J. Keys, center field.
David Tisdale, left field.
A. Cope, right field.

T. A. GOSSIP

By HECK

After lamping the Rangers the past three days I can't see where either Waco or Corsicana are going to have any cinch in winning many games from McIver's crew from the way they are hitting he old agate and in Scott, Brooks and Whitworth the Ranger have three flingers that are hard to beat anytime they are working.

Many fans are still wondering why Umpire Price called Naylor out at first in Thursday's game when it was easy to see that Anheier was off the base when Fred crossed the bag. The ruling was that Naylor was out for interference in respect to a throw being made by the catcher from the plate on a relayed play from some other infielder. The rule states that the runner must run "outside" of the base line and in the extra chalk mark provided for such an instance and in this instance Fred ran "inside" of the line and was directly in line with Banner's throw and Anheier was forced off the bag for the throw and Fred was called out for the blunder.

Country Williamson played left field Friday and handled himself in good style considering that he has been working from behind the plate all season. Butler was shifted to center and Otis will work good anywhere he is placed. Bryan is under suspension for the present but for how long no one seems to know.

The suspension of Bryan is to be regretted and it is hoped that he will rectify matters such that he will get back in the game and play the ball that he is capable of playing when he really tries. Bryan has no superior in the minor leagues as an outfielder and to my way of thinking is one of the greatest judges of a fly ball in any league and has a brilliant future in the baseball world but to attain that end he has faults that must be corrected and I sure hope Claude does that right pronto and gets back in the game and reaches the degree of perfection as a ball player that I know he is capable of doing.

Hub Northen has resigned as manager of Texarkana in the East Texas league and it is to be regretted that Dupuy is in this league yet so he could hire Hub as manager. I guess Hub and Dupuy would get along in great style—I don't think.

Tiner, ex-Gusher hurler, is now playing outfield for the Groesbeck clubs and they do say down in the county capitol that Tiner is a second Babe Ruth as a slugger and they can't understand why he was ever let out of the league.

I have been scouting around the bushes and have seen several good prospects among the semi-pro clubs but I can't see where they get the dope about Minnick, the Groesbeck first baseman, being a star. Minnick is a grandstander of the first water and a sucker for a pitcher with a curve ball. Minnick is a giant in size and has prospects of becoming a really great first baseman but he will never learn it by playing where he is now and also the way he is playing the bag for the cheers of the grandstand is about the worst thing a young player can do.

In Bedford the Austin club has about the best outfield prospect in the league and to my notion he is the very best. This boy is a real ball hawk, is a natural hitter and hits 'em far and wide and is about the fastest man in the league getting to first on his hits. During the last series he made the Gushers infield play at top speed to get him on infield plays and the least bobble makes him a sure bet to reach the initial bag safely. Scouts are daily watching Bedford and he is the best outfield buy in the league by long odds.

Charley Gressett the Marlin pitching ace, has been sold to Rochester, N. Y. in the International league for fifteen hundred plunks and at this ratio Jefferies is worth at least three thousand. Not that $ mean that Jeff is twice as good as Gressett but as a real prospect Jeff has it on the whole league on account of his youth and it being his first year of professional baseball. Gressett has had more experience than Jeff and has been up in higher class baseball for tryouts. However, the Marlin star is a grand pitcher and a truck horse for work and I can't see why he should not be a big winner in Class AA.

In Brooks, Scott and Whitworth, Austin has three splendid pitchers and it is a mystery why the Rangers are not up there battling for the rag. Whitworth looks great this season and is due for a big promotion this fall. Better keep your eye on the Rangers from now on. They look to be going strong now.

At the present time all scouts I have talked with are looking over pitchers Gressett of Marlin, Whitworth of Austin, Jeffries of Mexia and infielder Ted Jones of the Mexia club with prospects that all will get promoted for next season.

Fats Fleharty was due to open here as an umpire after his release by Austin but Rankin Johnson pleaded with the rotund pitcher and now Fats is wearing a Temple uniform. Fats would have made a wise move if he had taken over the indicator job as he is popular with the fans and a favorite with the players and the old boy sure knows the game from A to X and that is a lot more than many of our umpires can lay claim to. Robbins has looked good in the games I have seen him work but has the fault of making his decisions too quick and it gets him in a jam on many occasions. Tom Price is the king of them all and I think the best umpire in class D and perhaps higher than that. Stone is Okay but takes to much razzing from the players and that hurts the game, so after all the fans have missed a treat by Fleharty not donning the umps regalia.

Saw a game at Groesbeck the other day between the Goats and the Milford club and the Goats were having a track meet with the upstate boys when old southpaw Gene Moore decided to stop the fun and went in the box. Moore has about the best halfbalk motion that was ever in the big leagues. Tiner was on first base when Gene took the mound and as Gene made his freak delivery Tiner dove back into first base while the batter struck at the ball. Tom Price was umpiring a game that Moore was pitching several years ago and there was runners on first and third base and two strikes on the batter at the time. Moore made his freak delivery, the runner on first dove back into the bag, the batter struck out, and all the while the third baseman was tagging the runner out at third base. Guess Gene Moore holds the record for freak deliveries. Anyhow Tiner refused to take his foot off the bag until he saw the catcher with the ball.

Sandy Sanders has left our midst and hied himself back to his home in California. Sanders was considered as Mexia's best best as a pitcher when the season opened and was in splendid shape for a short while until the ravages of fever sent him to the hospital for a long time and it is doubtful whether he will be in his best condition next season although he expects to play a few games in the late fall on the coast. Sanders would probably have been the leagues leading pitcher and his illness was one of the main reasons why the Gushers have not got anywhere in the race.

I look for still further shakeups in the Gusher lineup but can't say where or when because it is only a hunch with me and I have no information from anyone—just an old "Heck" hunch.

FIGHTS AND FIGHTERS

NEW YORK.—Enter an old favorite, the New York State Boxing Commission, the plague of promoters and fighters. Just when Tex Rickard had announced a juicy morsel for the hungry fans in the proposed bout on Aug. 21 between Benny Leonary and Mickey Walker at Jersy City, the commish has some things to say.

They have notified Rickard that he is liable to have his license revoked. Benny Leonard, Mickey Walker, Billy Gibson et al, stand the same chance should the bout took place. While New York has no sanction over the fight in New Jersey is the contention of the commission that Walker must fight Dave Shade for the welter championship before he risks his crown to the hard slugging Bennah. Further announcements are expected today.

ROBERTSON'S ENDORSEMENTS

I am not a policician, but a careful investigation of the records, principles and promises of the candidates for Governor of Texas at this time convinces me that Judge Felix D. Robertson is the best qualified, the most conservative, and by far the safest man in the race to entrust with this high and responsible office. Every man who stands for good, clean government, sanely and safely administered, ought to support Judge Robertson.—W. C. Wright, Plainview, Texas.

I have known Judge Felix D. Robertson for a number of years, and have been intimately associated with him in some measure. My estimate of his character is such as to lead me to unhesitatingly say that he is temperamentally, intellectually, morally, judicially and spiritually competent to be Governor of Texas. Those who know him best love him most as a citizen and official. I unhesitatingly endorse his candidacy for this great office and take pleasure in working for his election.—B. O. Harrell, Pastor Tenth Street Baptist Church, Dallas, Texas.

Feeling as I do that at this time we are facing a crisis in the affairs of our great state, the solution of which will materially enhance her development, or, on the other hand, tend to retard her progress, I desire to add what encouragement I may to your efforts in his behalf. I regard your candidacy as a step forward, and shall make every effort to assist in electing you.—David P. Trammell, Phillips, Trammell & Chizum, Attorneys, Fort Worth, Texas.

On the eve of the approaching election, I want you to know that I am with you. I have full confidence in your ability and your disposition to administer the affairs of State in the best interest of the people. My long acquaintance with you, coupled with the fact that I have had many opportunities of seeing you in action, convinces me more than ever, that the good people would make no mistake in placing you in its highest office. "Efficiency and equity" are your unconscious maxims. Although I have never heard of your promulgating them publicly, but as an observer for many years, I know that they are both a part and parcel of your makeup.—W. G. Burton, Fort Worth.

I intended to support the Hon. Felix D. Robertson for Governor from the beginning of the campaign until the election is over. I have in no way changed my mind. I believe him to be thoroughly competent and will make Texas a good Governor if elected. I take pleasure in recommending him to my friends throughout the State of Texas. I know him intimately. He is a sound Democrat and I feel that if he is elected he will make the State an economical, safe and sound Governor.—W. P. McLean, Jr., Fort Worth, Texas.

Please count on me to pull for you for all I am worth, and I most sincerely hope you will be elected.—W. R. Covington, Pastor Highland Park Baptist Church, Texarkana, Texas.

I regard Felix D. Robertson as the outsanding candidate for Governor for the very reason that his platform is more constructive; in that he advocates better schools, free textbooks, strict law enforcement, prison reform and in its final analysis, "Common Sense Government." His plan of cooperation with legislative members prior to the convening of that body should command the vote of every citizen of Texas.—C. M. Cain, Winnsboro, Texas.

I am for Hon. Felix D. Robertson for Governor, and some of the reasons are: I have unshaken faith in him as a tried and true American; as worthy and well qualified to fill the position of Governor of Texas or any State in the Union; as absolutely dependable in every way; as an impartial and able executive. I regard him as a true, clean Christian gentleman.—J. O. Hearne, Waxahachie, Texas.

I endorse the platform of Judge Felix Robertson and believe under the existing conditions it is the duty of every voter in Texas to support him. He is honest, he is capable, and I believe him a safe, sane, common sense executive. J. W. Blake, Ex-Chairman State Democratic Committee, Houston, Texas.

I am supporting Felix D. Robertson for Governor because of his constructive platform and because I believe that he will make Texas the best Governor of recent years. He is an advocate of woman suffrage and will accord woman her place in the affairs of the State. He stands for law enforcement, lower taxes and better educational facilities—three planks that should commend him and his candidacy to every woman in our great State.—Mrs. Emma Wylie Ballard, Founder of Hope Cottage, Dallas, Texas.

I am for Felix D. Robertson of Dallas for Governor. Unless the voters of this State elect this candidate a mistake will be made that may cost Texas an incalculable price. I know him to be a man of high character and great ability, capable of administering the affairs of Texas in the interest of all her citizens and with credit to our great state.—C. W. Gibson, Corpus Christi, Texas.

I am for Felix D. Robertson for Governor because, first, of the constructive common sense platform up on which he is running, and, second, because I have abiding faith in Felix Robertson as a man of character integrity and ability. Never in the history of Texas has there been a time when we needed a leader of Felix D. Robertson's type more than we do now. In him we have a champion of right, and one who will lead this State back into the paths of Democratic teachings. The election of Felix D. Robertson is a forward step that Texas should take at this time.—W. L. Thornton, Member of Rules Committee, Texas Delegation to National Democratic Convention.

I am supporting Judge Felix D. Robertson because his platform is constructive and not destructive, and because it harmonizes with my belief of what the needs of our State demand.—W. A. Hanger, Ft. Worth, Texas.

In voting for Governor the public weal, peace and prosperity should be the controlling factors. In this campaign I am going to vote for Judge Felix D. Robertson. When the Judge stated that he would take Christ into the council chamber while he was Governor, he made a declaration that ought to inspire the Christian conscience and moral manhood of every voter. I remember when Judge Robertson was one of the stalwart prohibitionists that helped us overthrow a conspiracy of the liquor traffic to swamp us under an avalanche of forged and fraudulent poll tax receipts. Having known him and his illustrious father for more than thirty years I am cheerfully supporting him.—J. H. (Cyclone) Davis.

The policies advocated by Felix D. Robertson commend him to me as the outstanding candidate for nomination as Governor of the State of Texas. I have implicit confidence in his integrity, character and ability and am supporting him in his race for this position. In Felix D. Robertson Texas has an opportunity to procure an executive who will rank with Hogg and other immortal leaders of years gone by. M. C. Childers, Dougles, Carter & Childers, Attorneys, San Antonio, Texas.

I heartily endorse the candidacy of Felix D. Robertson for Governor. I believe that his outspoken stand on all important questions in Texas at this time and the platform upon which he is making the race are for the best interests of our State. I believe that the voters should get behind this man of unquestioned ability and elect him as Governor of Texas.—Rev. J. C. Everett, South San Antonio, Texas.

In supporting Judge Felix D. Robertson for Governor of the great state of Texas, I do so because I think he is a man that is possessed of all the qualifications required to fill this most important chair. His common sense platform is clean cut and easily understood by the people.—C. E. McDuffie, Chiropractor, Dallas, Texas.

Having implicit confidence in the integrity, character and ability of Felix D. Robertson of Dallas, I am unhesitatingly supporting him in his candidacy for nomination as Governor of Texas. His election would be the greatest forward step that could be taken at this time.—Rev. S. L. Batchelor, Kingsville, Texas.

Realizing that Felix D. Robertson's outspoken stand on all questions in Texas at this time and the policies he advocates are for the best inetrests of our great State, we heartily endorse his candidacy for Governor and ask the people of Texas to work for and support him in this race. We have implicit confidence in his integrity, character and ability.—W. C. Sparks, Roy Jackson and J. E. Holbrook, Sinton, Texas.

I am for Felix D. Robertson for Governor and believe that the people of Texas should get behind this great man and avail themselves of the opportunity to seat as chief executive of the State a leader of unquestioned ability, high character and noble purpose. His common sense platform commends him to me as the outstanding candidate seeking the office of Governor.—D. B. McManus, Thomaston, Texas.

I am for Felix D. Robertson for Governor. I believe his platform is the most constructive, progressive document of the kind that has been offered the voters of Texas in many decades. Back of this platform is a man of brilliant intellect, capable of putting the platform into practice and one who can direct the affairs of this commonwealth in a manner which will accrue to the benefit of all the people of Texas. I am for Robertson for Governor because I believe that he will make this State a great executive.—J. S. Edgar, Cuero, Texas.

I endorse the candidacy of Felix D. Robertson of Dallas County for Governor of our great state. Judge Robertson is first of all a Christian gentleman, a true Democrat and his "common sense" platform is broad and practical enough for every man, woman and child of every race and creed in Texas.—John B. Bell, Pastor First Methodist church, Troup, Texas.

I take this means of assuring you of my support in your candidacy for Governor. You have made a clean, dignified campaign devoid of personalities, and in so doing have presented to the people of Texas a conservative, constructive program of executive procedure which they can endorse with confidence.—Lester White, Red Oak, Texas.

I am endorsing and working for Felix D. Robertson in his campaign to be nominated by the Democrats as Governor of Texas. He is a man of unquestioned ability and when he is elected will administer the affairs of this State in a manner satisfactory to every class. In my mind there is no question but that the voters of Texas will seat Felix D. Robertson as the next Governor. Jesse S. Jones, San Antonio, Texas.

My father served four years in the Civil War with Judge Felix D. Robertson's father and grandfather and has always taught me to believe that two better soldiers never lived. Judge Felix D. Robertson's past record shows him to be the same type of man. I therefore heartily endorse him for Governor of Texas.—H. H. Berryman, Alto, Texas.

I am supporting Robertson for Governor because he is my friend of long standing and because I consider him the best equipped and best qualified man in the race. Since I have known him he has stood for right on all questions. He has my unqualified endorsement. T. M. Campbell, Jr., Palestine, Texas.

I am for Felix D. Robertson of Dallas for Governor because I know him to be the strongest man who is today offering himself for this position. Having known Felix D. Robertson intimately during all the time he was a citizen of Waco, I know him to be a man of high moral character and strong integrity. With the platform that he has promulgated, backed by these qualities, he should, and I believe he will, be seated as Governor of Texas.—Tom M. Hamilton, Waco, Texas.

I heartily endorse the program Judge Felix D. Robertson announced and thoroughly agree with the suggestions made by him in reference to simplifying and co-ordinating the work of the lawmaking body of the State of Texas. For many years we have needed the continuous thought of those charged with making our laws not alone during the ninety days' session of the legislature, but throughout the year. I thoroughly endorse the proposal of co-operation between the various branches of our State Government and believe that its execution will be of great benefit to the people of Texas.—Col. Alvin M. Owsley, Former Head American Legion, in Dallas News of July 18th.

I am for Felix D. Robertson for Governor, because. First, he is sane and sensible on the question of taxation; second, he is for the laboring man and woman and a friend to honest capital; third, he is a prohibitionist by precept and example; fourth, the farmer, ex-service man, business interests and public utilities will receive a square deal from him; fifth, he is by far the best qualified man to fill this great office; sixth, he has made the cleanest campaign ever staged in Texas. He has been too big to throw mud and villify; seventh, because he believes in carrying the principles of Jesus Christ into every department of public and private life.—Rev. A. C. Parker, Dallas, Texas.

Alienists Charged With Spreading Of Vicious Propoganda

CHICAGO, July 18.—Attorneys engaged by the millionaire Leopold and Loeb families in an effort to save their sons from the gallows, "are spreading vicious" propagunda, which is intended to show the boys insane, representatives of the state charge now. The defense according to William O. Krohn, state's alienist, is attempting to paint the careers of young Nathan Leopold, and Richard Loeb "even blacker than they really are so as to make the world believe the murderers are insane."

Reports circulated that Leopold and Loeb had plotted to murder Loeb's younger brother before they changed their plans and killed 14-year-old Robert Franks instead were branded as "vicious lies" by Dr. Krohn.

"The more heinous and diabolic and numerous are the crimes that are laid at the doors of Leopold and Loeb the more incomprehensible the University students will become to the man in the streets," Dr. Krohn explained in defense of his charges.

"When a man does something you can't possibly conceive doing, you will naturally explain it by saying, "why, that man must be crazy."

Reports were given wide circulation that the defense would try to show that Leopold and Loeb first planned to murder Loeb's younger brother, and then planned to kidnap Leopold's father were denied vigorously by Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for the defense, nothing but lies. Darrow said. Krohn, however, announced every precaution will be taken by the state to thwart any such testimony should it be offered by the defense during the course of the trial which opens August 4.

"The defense will use every means possible," Dr. Krohn predicted "to have these murderers sent to an insane asylum instead of the gallows. They will try to make the jury believe the boys are insane. They will paint the defendants blacker than they really are. They will try to show that they are 'different' from ordinary people.

"A man may depart a long way from the normal conduct of the 'average man,' and still be very sane and responsible.

"Take the so-called 'human spider' who earns his living by scrambling up the steep sides of tall office buildings. The average man prefers to be a doctor, clerk, or baker. He may even consider the 'human fly' a bit of a 'nut.'

"But suppose the spider from his dizzy height pulls a gun and shoots down into the street and kills a baker. He is just as guilty of murder and just as responsible as if the baker had pulled a gun and shot the spider.

"It is the same with these university students. They departed a long from from the actions of 'average man', they were remarkable students and their interests were along strange lines but that cannot possibly excuse them for the murder they committed."

The interest in the sensational murder trial scheduled to open in criminal court before chief justice John R. Caverly, August 4, is becoming more intense. Both states attorneys and counsel for defense admit it will be a hard fight to obtian twelve men on the jury who are not familiar with the facts in the case and who have not already formed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the confessed slayers.

The Chicago Tribune today offered to broadcast the trial over its radio station WGN, submitting the matter to a vote of its readers. Ballots which each reader is to clip and mail to the Tribune, appear on the first page. The readers are to vote "yes" or "no" on the question of whether the Tribune should broadcast the court room proceedings.

The dingy, grey room where the trial is to be held, has seating capacity for only about 250 people. Of these seats, at least 100 will be occupied by newspaper correspondents and special magazine and feature writers. Visiting jurists will take up many more seats. Because of the small space left to the spectators, the Tribune suggests it might broad cast the trial to the country at large.

Press Associations will be allowed to have their leased telegraph wires directly to the court room, Judge Caverly has ruled, provided their instruments are "noiseless." Every newspaper office in the country therefore will receive reports from the trial in rapid style.

PARIS STYLE HINTS

By ALICE LANGELIER
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, July 15.—New Summer frocks look as if they stepped right out of the flower garden. Nearly every one has some kind of flower trimming, unless, of course, it is a feather; for feathers are as marked a mode this Summer, as fur was last Winter.

When real flowers are worn in the evening they are at the topmost point of the shoulder. With artificial flowers there is usually only a single small one, such as a rose or camelia. Flowers and feathers are often mingled. Joseph Paquin mingles roses among a fringe of ostrich feathers on the bottom of a black stain chemise frock, which drops without a break from shoulders to hem.

Leonora Hughes danced at a large charity fete on Friday night, wearing a flower model from Patout's. It was in shell-pink chiffon, with the skirt made in two scalloped flounces, each trimmed in pink roses scattered here and there. The bodice was held by a band of roses over one shoulder Nina Payne, the other American dancer, who is a great favorite in Paris, has favored embroidered flowers on several of her dancing frocks. One, is blue mousseline de soie, is embroidered in daintiest flowers and worn over a slip of accordin-pleated lemon-yellow chiffon, with a silver girdle. Another is in yellow crepe romain and the flower design embroidered in pearls.

Nicole Groult is well known for her charming flowered frocks. Flowers are her favorite trimming. One of her latest models is in coeur de rose taffeta, with a gold lace tunic profusely garlanded with vari-colored hand-made silk roses framing a medallion of the head of Madame de Pompadour. Another, in black taffeta is draped toward the back and tied in a huge bow, giving the effect of the old-fashioned bustle, with an apron front of lingerie embroidery and two pockets trimmed with hand-made roses.

Silk flowers are often used to hold drapery in place or merely to add a dash of color. The Miler Soeurs use flowers to break the monotony of a straight chemise frock in manuve crepe georgette embroidered in crystal beads.

There are large silk roses in two shades of manuve at the side.

DALLAS.—Paging will be done at the Adolphus hotel in the future by loud speakers—mechanical, not human. The hotel has installed a system of amplifiers and one man does the calling over various parts of the hotel by speaking in an ordinary tone of voice into a transmitter.

MEXIA YOUTHS TELL OF TRIP TO FAMOUS PARK IN NORTHWEST 2000 MILES FROM HOME TOWN

Monday, 12:30.
(Written while riding—
mailed at Butte, Mont.)
Mr. S. N. Forrest,
Mexia, Texas.

I am trying to write this letter while we are driving. It is some job. We got out of Yellowstone Park yesterday, came out the north entrance by Gardiner, Montana. We sure are having a good time, eating and sleeping, mostly. We saw more than we will ever be able to remember in the park. The bears are sure tame. We saw some buffalo, little elk, lots of bears, black and brown, little cubs and big ones, in fact, a big black bear got up in the front seat of our car (we were not in it at the time.) We have about seventy-two pictures but guess we will have to send them home to be developed.

We made the loop around the park and half way around again in one week exactly and saw it all. The park sure is a high-powered place. We bought five gallons of gasoline at 50c per gallon but outside it is 34c. Everything seems rather reasonable.

We stayed at Livingston, Montana, last night. Sure was a fine place to camp. They had plenty of hot water, two wash tubs, two rub boards and we did our three weeks washing last night and gave ourselves a good scrubbing.

We have had no trouble whatever except one puncture at Thermopolis, Wyoming. The truck sure runs fine and it holds together wonderfully. We sure are falling in love with these beds more and more each night, especially when it is raining. It rained a little on us every day while in the park but we didn't mind it. We would hear other people driving their tent poles down so the wind wouldn't blow their tents down and we were glad that we didn't have a tent. We built bon fires to keep us warm. It sure was cold. Those two pair of blankets seemed like a sheet, however, we kept plenty warm and did not wake up very early in the mornings.

Tell Uncle Ben that if we could have charged a dime to demonstrate the truck to other tourists we could pay our expenses with the proceeds. They all say it is the best they have seen. We know it is.

When we were in the park we went swimming in the Mammouth Hot Spring. I would hate to go swimming in the river, because it is a puzzle to me why it does not freeze. If they call this summer I would hate to be here in the winter, because I know it must get very cold.

We expect to stay in Butte tonight. We should get into Canada about Thursday. We think we will go to Macloud, Alberta, Canada, don't know exactly how we will go from there, it may be east and it may be west.

Guess I will have to stop scribbling because it is about my time to drive. We change about every twentyfive miles.

Love to everybody,
Machon Forrest.

P. S.—The speedometer registered exactly 2013 miles, so we are 2000 miles from Mexia and still going strong.

B. S. Smith,
Mexia, Texas.

We arrived at Macleod this afternoon. Everything fine. Leave in the morning. We are having a great trip. The truck is running perfectly. We have enjoyed every minute of the trip. Have just left Glacier Park. Do not know where we will go from Macleod but probably Spokane. Love. Tell all our Mexia friends hello.

Jim Smith and
Machon Forrest.

The above is the latest news from Jim Smith and Machon Forrest, the two boys who built a special body on a Ford Truck and left Mexia June 23rd for an extended tour.

BLACKMON BOOSTERS
PASS THROUGH MEXIA

About 9 o'clock Saturday morning about a dozen cars from Groesbeck arrived in Mexia, and being joined here by several more, proceeded to Wortham and thence to other Freestone county towns. The cars all carried banners advocating Judge A. M. Blackmon for reelection as judge of the 77th district court.

The party was made up of friends and supporters of Judge Blackmon, and represented some of the most prominent men and women of the capital city.

The building on Main Street lately vacated by the Walton Furniture company, is being repaired and remodeled to be occupied by a grocery store.

Nothing pleases a loafer better than to annoy a busy man.

Tonsils and Adenoids

Letter No. 6

Giving the Child a Better Chance.

IS YOUR CHILD HANDICAPPED?

Does your child's nose run or is it sore? Does the child snuffle?

Are the eyes red? Are there fever sores or eczema around the nose and mouth?

Does the child seem dull? Does it stand and look at you with open mouth?

Does it put its hands to its head as though it had earache? Does it take cold easily?

Does the child sleep with its mouth open? Does it snore?

If the answer to any of these is Yes, ask the doctor if the child has adenoids or large tonsils.

Tonsils

Tonsils often become diseased and stick out into the throat. Sometimes they do not get any larger but become diseased and contain little cups filled with infection. These diseased tonsils often hold poisonous germs which may cause throat trouble or may be carried to other parts of the body and cause sickness.

Adenoids

Adenoids look like a little head of cauliflower, colored red. They grow in the back part of the throat where the nose and throat join, and can be seen only by the doctor with a special mirror. They stop up the nose and make the child breathe through its mouth.

When the child breathes through the mouth, much dust and many germs get into the body.

Adenoids should always be removed.

Earache

Earache often means that the child has adenoids. Earache always means that the child is in danger of getting deaf. Also the child is in danger of getting a running ear and there is danger of the disease reaching the brain. A running ear should always be treated by an ear doctor, it will not get well without good care.

Large Glands

Often poison gathers in the nose, throat or ears. The glands of the neck try to carry this poison away. This overwork makes the glands enlarge and lumps often form.

Other Diseases

Diseased tonsils and adenoids hold poisonous germs which frequently are carried to other parts of the body and cause sickness. Rheumatism and heart disease often come in this way. These germs also cause stomach, bowel or lung diseases.

A child with adenoids and diseased tonsils can get diptheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough very easily. Such a child will have the disease worse than a child who has had adenoids and diseased tonsils removed.

Stupid Children

Often children who seem stupid and who do not learn rapidly can be made healthy and normal by the removal of diseased tonsils and adenoids.

It is wrong to blame children for backwardness when they cannot hear, see or smell properly or are suffering from pains from diseased tonsils or adenoids.

Have Them Removed

Adenoids and diseased tonsils can be removed at any time of the year. Don't wait, thinking they will get better. It is dangerous. The child may lose its hearing if you put it off.

Watch carefully for the danger signals—mouth breathing and earache.

Will be glad to make examination free and explain in detail.
